On January 12, the North Shore Senior High football team presented Sally Phillips, North Channel Assistance Ministries volunteer, with a generous cash donation on behalf of North Shore Senior High School. The team held a fundraiser and collected spare change from their classmates during each lunch period. The money donated will be used to purchase food for the food pantry. We are so proud of the team for giving back to the community. Keep up the good work!

The North Channel Assistance Ministries is available to assist income living within the area codes of 77013, 77049, 77015, 77018, 77044, 77028 and parts of 77029 with proof of residency. The food pantry is open Tuesday through Thursday from 8:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. If you would like to donate to North Channel Assistance Ministries, please contact Sally Phillips at 713-453-2028 or sjphillips711@yahoo.com.

University of Texas at Austin OnRamps program giving CHS students early jump on college credits

By Mark Kramer
Charter School 360 Public Schools

The University of Texas at Austin's OnRamps Enrollment program is giving Channelview High School students who have completed one year of college-level courses an opportunity to complete the first semester of college courses and earn college credit.

Channelview High School launched the program at the beginning of this school year, offering classes in English Language Arts, Physics, Computer Science, and Statistics. The courses are designed to prepare students for college-level work during the spring.

In Robert Barajas’ Statistics class, students are required to investigate and work together to solve problems that they are seeing. These methods of teaching help students to broaden their understanding and make learning more relevant and engaging.

Incorporating technology into the classroom is an important part of the OnRamps curricula. Mill- ennium’s students participate in interactive studies of computer science, climate systems, and energy systems through the use of real-world projects and other electronic resources.

"This generation of students grow up with the internet and computer use. They are naturally interested in these kinds of projects and are excited to learn about the topics in a hands-on fashion," said Rachel Robinson, OnRamps curriculum manager.

"OnRamps attempts to bridge the gap between what the students have been studying or expecting to learn in college. This is not a replacement for in-person instruction, but rather an extension of that instruction through online and in-person learning. We are creating a bridge between the two worlds. The students are responsible for their own learning and are required to put in the time and effort to succeed," Ms. Robinson added.

Along with the advanced coursework, English teacher Joseph Carnitz believes the OnRamps program helps students for the rigorous transition from high school to college classes. In his Biology class, the curriculum is designed to prepare students for better analysis and produce arguments involving a variety of topics and issues.

"OnRamps program gives us the ability to teach the students how to think,” said Mr. Robinson. "It helps them understand what they need to do to succeed."
Uncle Sam Wants You To Save For Retirement

3. File Your Tax Return and Claim the Credit

When you prepare your federal tax returns, you can claim your Savior’s Credit by subtracting this tax credit from the amount of federal income taxes owed.

Workers who are eligible for the Savior’s Credit are also eligible to subtract the tax credit from the amount of federal income taxes owed.

In general, for every $1,000 you save in a retirement plan or an IRA, you save for retirement through a qualified retirement plan or an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). In general, for every $1,000 you save in a retirement plan or an IRA, you save for retirement through a qualified retirement plan or an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). The Savior’s Credit—a little-known tax credit made available by the IRS to eligible taxpayers—can make saving for retirement more affordable than ever before.

It may reduce your federal income taxes when you save for retirement through a qualified retirement plan or an Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

The Savior’s Credit is a fantastic tax credit hematologists can use to save for retirement. It offers eligible workers an added incentive to save for retirement on top of the benefits of tax-deferred savings when they contribute to a 401(k), 403(b), or similar plan. The Saver’s Credit is designed to help folks of all income levels contribute to a 401(k), 403(b) or similar retirement plan or an individual retirement plan.
