An opportunity to restore Health Care Freedom

Now that the U.S. Supreme Court will issue its highly anticipated ruling in King v. Burwell, the Court can finally address the President's many unconstitutional acts that violate the Constitution and the Ten Commandments, including Obamacare. This case challenges the legality of the President's implementation of what is essentially a taxpayer-funded health care program.

The basic concept of this lawsuit is based on the opinion of the Supreme Court in United States v. Lopez (2000), in which the Court held that the federal government cannot regulate commerce under the Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution. This means that the federal government cannot mandate that people must purchase health insurance, or that insurance companies must provide certain types of coverage. The suit further challenges the President's “individual mandate,” which requires all Americans to purchase health insurance or pay a penalty.

The case was brought by a coalition of 26 states and the District of Columbia. The states argue that the individual mandate is unconstitutional because it does not regulate commerce. They argue that the mandate does not have a direct and substantial effect on interstate commerce and is not a legitimate exercise of the commerce power under Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution.

The Court will consider the President's position that the mandate regulates commerce by compelling people to buy health insurance. The Court will also consider the President's argument that the mandate promotes a legitimate end — the provision of health care to all Americans.

The Court has the opportunity to end the federal government's intrusion into the lives of American families. It can strike down this unconstitutional mandate and preserve the right of all Americans to determine what health care, if any, they wish to purchase.

The Court can recognize its Constitutionally mandated responsibility to declare any act that violates the Constitution invalid. The Court can declare the President's health care plan unconstitutional and restore the right of all Americans to determine what health care, if any, they wish to purchase.

The Court can issue its highly anticipated ruling on the individual mandate. The Court will then have the opportunity to end the federal government's intrusion into the lives of American families. It can strike down this unconstitutional mandate and preserve the right of all Americans to determine what health care, if any, they wish to purchase.
HARRIS COUNTY STRATFORD LIBRARY in Highlinden has a new branch librarian, Mandy Shefford, at left, and a new button making machine, thanks to Raymond Gonzales of the Highlands Rotary Club, and Martha Allen of Friends of the Stratford Library. Martha Allen also has the new start displaying friends support. The library plans on using the button making machine for library promotions, and teaching and art projects for children and adults in their classes. The public is invited to come to the library, and make use of the new machine too.

San Jac Certificed: Dr. Grant personifies the value of education

HOUSTON — Dr. Charles Grant, San Jacinto College graduate and former president of the North Campus, was honored recently for his dedication to the value of education. In fact, Dr. Grant served as a professor and administrator for three decades at San Jac, over a work span of 30 years. Dr. Grant also served on several projects for Harris County Pct. Zoning joining the North Channel Area Chamber of Commerce as its president and CEO. Dr. Grant retired from the education field, launching for a career in real estate. Currently he is the owner of Grant Communities International (GCI), an organization that provides training and certification services for finding and professional development of real estate professionals.

Since I first heard on the radio that he was retiring, I couldn’t imagine anyone who has done so much for our community of education leaders. Dr. Grant, who worked at San Jacinto College from 1981 to 2009, “Most continuing education teachers are passionate about their profession and have many hours of unpaid work to share their knowledge.”

Dr. Grant served as a director of continuing education and later as a dean of continuing education. The College’s continuing education division is currently included as a full-fledged school department with wide range of training and educational activities.

Dr. Grant is a former employee of San Jacinto College, is a San Jacinto College命名ered honor professor and is also an internationally known professor of the field of education. Dr. Grant is the author of Continuing Education Development division and is the director and president of the College’s Continuing Education Division.

Dr. Grant is an alumnus of Houston College in 1975. He then earned a Bachelor’s degree in business from Stephen F Austin State University, a master’s degree in education administration and supervision from Houston State University, and PhD in higher education from Texas A & M University.

San Jacinto College, a community college that prepares students for the workforce by engaging them in a multi-disciplinary education. He earned his Doctor of Education degree from Houston State University and a Master of Science degree in Educational Administration from University of Houston.

As a way of providing support, Dr. Grant recently became a member of the San Jacinto College Alumni Association, where he now serves as the director of alumni relations and development. He recently served on the Board of the University of Houston Alumni Association as well.
