North Shore Rotary Club executive director Billy Mills said that the club decided to conduct the raffle as a fund raiser for the 40th Annual Catfish Fry & Crawfish Boil that will be held this Saturday at the North Shore Rotary Clubhouse (2230 Wallisville Road, behind the Fonteno Polo Club). The vehicle will be the choice of the lucky ticket holder, either a Toyota Tundra or a Toyota Avalon from Community Toyota in Channelview. The vehicle will be presented to the winner on Saturday, May 16, 2015, at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion, Post 499 located at 1601 16th Street, Galena Park, Texas 77547. The event will feature an update on current issues and legislation, as well as the opportunity for members to discuss and voice concerns in person.

The Rotary Club is hoping that more representatives of government agencies will visit the Club in the future. After months of wrangling with the Deputies of the Sheriff’s office, last Monday night Deputy Hall started the process of dialogs and techniques to improve security and safety from crime, including a Home Security Survey, a Coffee with the Cop program, and free Gun Locks. Two people shot outside their house

Harris County, TX - Crime Stoppers and Robbery Investigators with the Harris County Sheriff’s Office need your help to identify one male suspect responsible for an aggravated robbery at a drug store in Channelview on May 6, 2015.

Around 4 a.m. on May 6, 2015, Harris County Sheriff’s Office responded to a call at a drug store, level in the 4400 block of Woodforest Blvd., in refercence to an aggravated robbery.

Deputies arrived at the store and purchased an item with money. As the employees left the store almost 15 minutes later he entered the store again and walked up to the service counter. The employee said that he was pulled out of the store and that the suspect picked up her cash and handed her all the cash she had on her.

The suspect is described as a black male, approximate 30-35 years of age, standing approximately 5’9” to 5’10” tall and weighing between 120 to 180 lbs. Sus-pet was wearing a tan baseball cap, white sweatshirt and tan pants during the robbery. The suspect also had an unknown tattoo on his left forearm.

Washington, DC – U.S. Representative Brian Babin (TX-36) today marked the 64th Annual National Day of Prayer by sharing his personal reflections and prayers for our nation. The transcript is as follows:

"Today is a special day—when millions of Americans join together in prayer for our nation and its leaders. Since the first call to prayer in 1952, when the Continental Congress asked for wisdom in forming a nation, the call to prayer has continued throughout our history—despite President Lincoln’s designation of April 30, 1863, as a ‘Day of National Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer.’ Then in 1962, President Truman signed a resolution officially declaring an annual National Day of Prayer. It was later amended by President Reagan to permanently set our Nation’s Day of Prayer on the first Thursday of every May.

"On this day, every year, we pause and put ourselvies humble before God, seeking His guidance for our nation and His grace and mercy upon us as a people. This year’s theme—‘Lord, Our Father’—spoke to all I believe Scripture reminds us of the manner in which we are to come before us Lord in prayer. We are to do so in humility—2 Chronicles 7:14, reminds us many people, are called to humble themselves and pray, seek and ask our face, and turn from their wicked way—come before Him from heaven, and I will forgive them, and will heal their land.’

"It is in that spirit of humility, that we join together today. Seeking the mercy and grace of our Lord, knowing that what we really deserve is judgment. We should be thankful, now more than ever, that our God is a God of mercy and grace, and we come before him today asking for his blessing. We are in trying times here at home and abroad, but in many respects we have always since the birth of the United States. I implore you to remember that we serve a God that is all-powerful and is beyond the limits of humankind. With these challenges there may be a temptation to despair, recognizing what is beyond our abilities to fix. And, that may be the case. But rather than despair, we should turn to prayer. That is what we are doing today.

’None of us are perfect, we all have limitations and shortcomings. To those of us who are Christians, the Bible tells us that if we are a God of mercy, a God of grace and a God of immovable compassion. Today, we come humbly before him in prayer.

Psalms 102:27 ‘The Lord is gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and rich in love.’

The National Prayer Day is an annual reminder for us, our nation, our leaders and our military members. It is also an opportunity for us on this second day of school, to pray for our nation which we believe is the bedrock for our prayer, to seek from God, and from those who we seek to serve with us in the U.S. Congress. God Bless Texas and God Bless the United States of America.”

AUSTIN — For the Texas Legislature to accomplish its main purpose, the passage of a state budget for fiscal years 2016 and 2017 must be approved.

The five House and five Senate members of the Comptroller, House Bill 1, have been working together since late April. They must struggle to something mutually acceptable to take to their respective chambers for a vote.

Last week, however, no results emerged. HB 1, an interim committee report was published, as yet, there is no document revealing state- wide mosaic-breaking agreements on the $11 billion budget.

Movement on other issues, in a bulk sense, has been slow. As of Friday May 8, only four Senate bills and zero House bills had reached the governor’s desk. House and Senate members filed a total of 274 bills in the current session.

This week, May 11 to 15, constitutionally important, ten deadline dates took effect, setting the stage for a massive dis- off of bills that have not moved well into the process. For instance, 3,135 House and Senate bills have proposed be- fore the committees in which they originated.

Compilator pinpoints concerns

With the June 1 and date for the legislative session only weeks away, Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar, the state’s chief bookkeeper and a member of the House and the Senate, on May 4th, is written reminder of his budgetary concerns to Greg Abbott, Lt. Gov. Dan Patrick and House Speaker Joe Straus.

While the focus of budget disagreements between the House and Senate is large, Hegar urged attention to a list of long-term balance sheet ac- ces-ions affecting the state’s credit rating and thus the cost of borrowing. Here’s a shortened version of the list.

1. Bonds and Infrastructure: Additional funds are needed to meet the state’s rapid population growth.
2. Texas Employees Retirement System problems. The state’s contribution rate is insufficient to support the liability in a timely manner.
3. Long-term debt: The state’s general obligation debt has more than doubled from $7 billion in 2010 to $15 billion currently. It is expected to double by 2025.
4. Other post-employment benefits. Accrued liabilities to the Teachers Retirement

April was “the second consec- utive month of relatively slow growth” in sales tax rev- enue, Hegar said, and the 1.1 percent growth was “miraculous” given the oil and gas mining sec- tor. However, he added, state sales tax collections from automobiles, tourism, restaurants, construction and manufacturing continue to grow.

Cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose taxing districts will remain May local sales tax alloc- ation-total $378 million, up 6.3 percent compared to May 2014, Hegar said.

Drought conditions persist

As Abbott May 8th it was re- solved an emergency dis- ease con- dition certifying that exceptional drought conditions pose a threat of imminent disaster in some of the state’s counties in Vari- ance.

Hegar’s proclamation di- rected cities to suspend or cancel any rate or regulation that may inhibit or prevent prompt responses to the drought bill submitted to his office for approval.

Dr. Steven Horton of the National Center for Construction Education and Research, left, Wensley Hutchins, Agriculture Science Teacher and Mia Young, Channelview High School Technical Education Director are all unites after Horton’s announcement of Channelview High School becoming an accredited school for Training and education through the National Center for Construction Education and Research.

Channelview High School was recently named an accredited training and education facility through the National Center for Construction Education and Research.
The NCCER and Dr. Steven Horton were honored as one of Channelview High School's ISO's Distinguished Career and Technical Education
Partners during the district's annual CTE Awards
held recently at Channelview High School. The organization began partnering
with the district's Career and Technical Education programs this school year.

“We've been very impacted during our visits,as we can see the students and the programs offered here at Channelview High School,” Horton said. “The Houston area is a prime market for students to become certified in construction careers — and then immediately put those skills to work.”

NCCER is an not-for-profit 501c3 education foundation created in 1996 as The National Center for Construction Education and Research. It was developed with the support of more than 125 construction CEOs and various association and academic leaders who agreed to revolutionize
the construction workforce industry. Sharing the common goal of developing a safe and productive workforce, these organizations created a standardized training and credentialing program for the industry.

“We are very excited about this accreditation,”
said Mia Young, Channelview High School's Technical Education Director. “With all of the growth in our area, there is going to be an ever-growing need in construction careers for years to come. If our students are certified in their chosen field when they earn our (CTE) programs, it will make them more marketable in the workforce.”

CTE students have been able to become certified through their involvement with SkillsUSA. The SkillsUSA program is a partnership of students, teachers and industry working together to ensure America has a skilled workforce.

Commissioner Loretta Blue- h日晚 wrote and issued an 18 amendment, which had received 4 others they felt were not required. The impetus to amend the charter, ironically, had started with Mayor Esmeralda Moya soon after her election last year, when it became clear that she did not have the authority to run council meetings and hire and fire city personnel in manner that she wished, and that she often used what the people wanted.

As she told the Star, she often said was “what the present men and women on the staff. Average response times are 5 minutes, as the trucks are staffed full-time Sat.-Sun., with 13 persons always on duty. The department runs 2 fire trucks, and 5 ambulances, as well as a District Chief and ESD supervisor.

Other, including activist Barry Ponder, formed a committee known as the “Committee for a Better Galena Park” and pushed the city to reject them. She has actually written and favored all 18 amendments, and had exclud- ed them with violating the original charter, the Texas Open Meetings Act, and interfering with her ability to run the city as her conscience would dictate. As she told the Star, she often said was “what the present men and women on the staff. Average response times are 5 minutes, as the trucks are staffed full-time Sat.-Sun., with 13 persons always on duty. The department runs 2 fire trucks, and 5 ambulances, as well as a District Chief and EMS supervisor.

Emergency Service District #50 is responsible for the financ- ies of the department. Expenses for the department are paid with tax funding and ESD billing. Equipment includes another pumper, a ladder truck, a back-up pumper, a brush truck, and four ambulances. Bed-up equipment includes another pumper, and an ambulance.

The department was found- ed in 1949, chartered in 1953, and in 2012 transitioned into a full paid department regulated by the Texas Commission on Fire Protection. ESDB50 was estab- lished in 1993.

For the past several months, I’ve done something that leaders should do a bit more of: I’ve been listening. I’ve been listening to people all over Houston – from fellow churchgoers, to large and small business owners, to Friendly Seniors at the local community garden, to the local basketball spot. Like me, they all love our city. But they’re also concerned about our future. They want the roads to be repaired and to spend less time in traffic; they want to keep our families and children safe; they want safer schools, and they want to make sure the city doesn’t spend more than it takes in.

And so I’ve listened, people have import to run for Mayor.

Today, I’m announcing my candidacy for Mayor of Hou- ston because Houston needs a mayor who knows how to bal- ance a budget, save our families and children, and protect our children and families. I’ve done that as sheriff. And I’ll do that as mayor.

Friends: I want you to know this:

For the past several months, I’ve done something that leaders should do a bit more of: I’ve been listening. I’ve been listening to people all over Houston – from fellow churchgoers, to large and small business owners, to Friendly Seniors at the local community garden, to the local basketball spot. Like me, they all love our city. But they’re also concerned about our future. They want the roads to be repaired and to spend less time in traffic; they want to keep our families and children safe; they want safer schools, and they want to make sure the city doesn’t spend more than it takes in.

And so I’ve listened, people have import to run for Mayor.

Today, I’m announcing my candidacy for Mayor of Hou- ston because Houston needs a mayor who knows how to bal- ance a budget, save our families and children, and protect our children and families. I’ve done that as sheriff. And I’ll do that as mayor.
