State Run-off Primaries puts conservatives ahead

By Leon Spencer

TEXAS — The hottest seat is being held by conservatives for the November election but not everyone that won was a Para tactic victory. Replacing Steve Stokleman as the U.S. Congressman for a area that runs from inside Harris County to the Beaumont area is Dr. Brian Babin, a dentist and the former mayor of Woodville. He won over Ben Sheu man 55% to 45%. Sheu man's Tea Party operative and former mortgage banker hand ed over his campaign and was former chairman of Americans for Property - Strengthen Texas. Spring and has houses west of Galena Park.

Kinder-Morgan Splitter Tower
traverses streets of Galena Park

KINDER-MORGAN's 1-102 SPITTER made the trip down Clinton Drive last Monday, from the old Brown & Root dock on the ship channel, cut on the roadway, and finally into the driveway of their new plant on the east side of Galena Park. The tower is 20 feet in diameter, and when transported it is over 35 feet high and 80 feet long. Help was awarded from the Galena Park police department for traffic control, and Centroy Energy to move vans and traffic lights to make clearance for the height of the tower.

Paul manager Danny Fuchske, reported that the move went as planned, and no major problems were encountered, due to advanced planning and some modifications to the original plans. (K-M Photos).

The split tower has a number of components requiring it to be handled as two separate units: the 1-102 SPITTER, which is a 10,000 PSI Casing Liner Spitter; and the 1-102 splitter, which is a 3,000 PSI Checker Spitter. Both units are equipped with 750 psi high pressure water nozzles to remove debris and keep the units clean.

The split tower is a key component of the Kinder-Morgan Splitter System, which is a system designed to facilitate the separation of hydrocarbons from natural gas. The system is used in the oil and gas industry to process natural gas into markets that require different gas compositions.

In addition to the Kinder-Morgan Splitter Tower, the event also included the Kinder-Morgan Splitter Plant, which is located on the opposite side of the ship channel from the tower. The plant is a key component of the Kinder-Morgan Splitter System, and is used to process natural gas into markets that require different gas compositions.

51st Annual Livestock Show & Sale
Channelview FFA Livestock Show grows in size and scope

By Mark Kramer, CISD

The Channelview FFA held its 51st annual Livestock Show at the Allen Hall Fair

Gala at Clinton Drive for June 21, Thursday. The event encourages students to learn about different aspects of agriculture, such as livestock production and marketing. The show also helps students develop important skills such as record-keeping, budgeting, and public speaking.

The show includes a variety of events, including a livestock auction, where students can sell their animals to the highest bidder. The event also includes a parade, which features floats and entries from local schools and organizations.

The 51st annual Livestock Show was attended by over 300 students from Channelview ISD, representing 11 different schools. The event featured over 400 entries, including cattle, hogs, goats, and chickens.

The show is sponsored by the Channelview FFA, the CISD模 satellite high school, and the Channelview Chamber of Commerce. The event is also supported by local businesses and individuals who donate their time and resources to make the event a success.

In addition to the livestock shows, the FFA also offers a variety of other programs and activities, including a scholarship program for students interested in pursuing careers in agriculture. The FFA also offers mentorship programs, where students can learn from experienced farmers and agriculture professionals.

The Channelview FFA is proud to be part of the agricultural community in Channelview, and is committed to providing students with the tools and resources they need to succeed in the agricultural industry.

Best Wishes to the Channelview FFA Exhibitors

Congratulations to all the FFA Participants
We were not pleased. For one on our team had been crowding around the gate like dogs at a hoagie, and now they were telling us it would be another twenty minutes before boarding. A plane they had been working on had just come to the gate. We could see the bodies of the passengers being loaded into the plane while we were waiting in the lobbies. There were certain passengers who needed to make their way to the gate.

We rolled our eyes, thinking that we were now done for:
There was a quiet, gentle breeze in the plane, and over the intercom, the pilot announced that we would be landing soon. We settled in to make ourselves comfortable for the landing.

The plane touched down gently on the runway. They let loose two soft whines as the wings folded up and the plane was taken by the tugs. The soldiers sitting at the front of the plane had no luggage. They had been waiting for us to arrive.

“Crawfish are typically small, but this one is a real crawfish (or shrimp) fiend,” the pilot said.

“We’re on our way back,” the pilot assured us.

As the plane touched down, two men in uniform appeared and took control of the plane. They were the only ones left to do a water salute.

A small group of soldiers came on board. They remained seated, perhaps thinking about the significance of the moment. They had no luggage. They were there to do a water salute.

Community wide prayer night in Highlands set for June 3

To Burner A Quote from a Very Famous Person:
I have a dream, or vision, of men and women praying God rides side by side regardless of color, race, or nationality. Christians praying side by side regardless of peripheral do and denominational barriers! Christians showing the community and the world that we do have love for one another. I see a city where there are no drug dealers, no spray or child abusers, no crime zones, no terrorists, no druggies or alcoholics. I see a city where the glory of God shines where the darkness of evil used to stalk the life of the city. I see a city where children will play in the streets, and parents will not worry about them. I see cities where we don’t lock doors at night and we leave our vehicles unlocked because there is no crime to watch out for! This city can only exist of the Church will rise up and demand the removal of all evil from our city. It will be done through God through our prayers. So be it. In Bethesda Church at 3600 Jones Road in Highlands will host a community wide prayer night for the city of Highlands, League City, and McNeal on June 3, 2014 be tween 7:00 PM to 12:00 AM. Everyone is invited to come out and come together in agreement in prayer for our cities. God said in Matthew 18:19-20, “Again I say to you that if two of you agree on earth concerning anything whatever, it will be done for them by My Father who is in heaven. For whatever three of you are gathered together in My name, there are you in the midst of them.” We are the power of God to rid our city of darkness and usher in the kingdom of God “on earth as it is in heaven!”

Bockius reports the plant will be in operation by October. He said that the new “Splitter” would cost $370 million to build and result in hundreds of temporary construction jobs and 23 full-time positions. This is in addition to the 400-500 new jobs that now work for Kinder-Morgan in the Galena Park area. Bockius said that the community can expect another 150 jobs to be created in support of this plant by other businesses.

Tax revenue paid by Kinder-Morgan for this plant will have an enormous impact on local government. Bockius said that they estimate property tax revenue to the City of Galena Park at $1.4 million annually, and $2 million to the school district. Another $900,000 would be paid to Harris County.

Kinder-Morgan currently has several large terminal operations in Galena Park or the immediate area. A pipeline is being built that will bring more crude to the area for processing.

Bockius said that there is an immediate need for new hires, citing 3 operators, 3 operator supervisors, and a supervisor. Jobs are posted online at www.kindermorgan.com, or www.indeed.com. Bockius also recommended interested applicants should consider taking a Petroleum Technician course of study at San Jacinto College. He said that he had received 2000 applications, all had been considered and reviewed, and only a few were qualified for the type of work involved.

The new plant site covers 47 acres, and will eventually hold 17 storage tanks. Production of the plant will be 1000 barrels a day at capacity. It is expected to be in operation by October 2014.

( Houston, TX) – Over 400 participants attended Congressman Gene Green’s 12th Annual Job Fair which was held at San Jacinto College North Campus in partnership with Workforce Solutions, San Jacinto College North and the North Channel Area Chamber of Commerce. Participating employers and professional groups included: the City of Houston, Galena Park ISD, Houston Independent School District, Boasso America Corporation, Lowes, Harris County Toll Road Authority, JACinto Port International, CVS/Caremark, Walgreens, Mission Foods, Concordia University, Johnny Carinos Restaurant, Houston Police Department, Harris County Department of Education, Gulf Stream Marine, Dow Emergency, Laborers International, Houston Area Plumbers and Joint Apprenticeship, Job Sparx, United States Steel, YMCA, Southwest Shipyard and Pasadena Police Department.

“We saw people interviewing for job openings, and some were even hired to start immediately,” Green said. “This is why we do what we do. We’re happy when our local businesses partner with our communities and hire locally, that helps to build a stronger economy.”

Job training professionals were also present to offer career assessment and employment counseling, as well as to assist with resume writing and interviewing techniques.

“We were also glad to see so many young people in attendance. This is a good place for them to explore their options and get them connected with great companies,” Green said.
