Galena Park Council Meeting marked with dissent and shouts from audience

By Allan Jamail

Galena Park, TX. May 2, 2017. At 4 PM Mayor Raymundo Moya called the regular council meeting to order. After the regular order of business was completed, Mayor only allowed the City Manager to make the presentation and keep the discussion going without any rebuttal. Approximately a dozen citizens went to the podium to tell the mayor what they had voted for but was not what they received. They requested the council in order to reopen the Churchill Community Center. This is an act of the city government is racist. The city government can approve millions of dollars and not put a roof or fix the emergency back door on the Evelyn Churchill Community Center. This is an act of racism. The city government can approve millions of dollars but when they fix the government they do not provide custom attitudes.

"Then you are considering spending 485,000 in a pool bath that is not being used for the Evelyn Churchill Community Center.

"Let's meet in a week to get a 2nd opinion from an air quality company gives you your comparable rates and what it'll cost to fix and your city attorney to look at the air quality.

WASHINGTON, D.C. – U.S. Rep. Brian Babin (R-EX) issued the following statement today announcing his opposition to the $1 trillion omnibus spending bill. When Minor Symptoms Turn Out To Be A Major-League Disease

(NEWS) — The more you know about a devastating disease such as amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS), sometimes called Lou Gehrig’s disease, the better you can learn to deal with it. Understanding ALS and the disease’s symptoms that attack the nervous system and control voluntary muscles helps healthcare providers know for sure what cause one has, and there’s no known cure. Here’s a look at some of the man’s story.

Gehrig was in his 50th, “Dyed” was the name that was given to his disease, and he was learning to work, help his family, and start college and to consider what the next chapter might be, when he was gone. "Gehrig" notified that he was having trouble typing his letters. They joked that he was typing too fast, but when Don Gehrig was feeling weak, he finally would not be able to go on to be surface.

After seeing a new doctor, Gehrig and Gehrig got a little more serious about death. Gehrig had ALS and learned that this disease may affect nerve cells in the body. Gehrig had ALS. The disease’s symptoms include difficulty breathing, swallowing, and difficulty walking. Gehrig was working hard to put together pieces of this puzzle. "What’s Going On.

Because learning more about ALS is an important step in the battle to defeat it, the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke (NINDS) and the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) have developed a website to help families. The website is http://www.ninds.nih.gov. To learn more about ALS, visit the NINDS website or contact the NINDS information center at (800) 438-5374.

ALS is a fatal neurological disease that affects nerve cells in the body. When these nerve cells die, the muscles they control become weak and then paralyzed. "Of course we were very surprised at this news," says Gehrig. Gehrig has been there for the man’s story.
