Hurricane Harvey ravages Huffman Methodist Church

Huffman Rotary Club board member Pastor Frank Coats of the Huffman United Methodist Church last Thursday, October 26, Pastor Coats was describing the devastation that his church building suffered as a result of flooding from Hurricane Harvey. Coats lost about $400,000 of contents including bringing his message to the congregation in words and music played on his banjo.

Coats has been a Rotarian, and was welcomed by the club. After a different format, he said he became a minister 15 years ago. He started at Huffman UMC in 2015.

Pastor Coats uses a banjo in his worship services, and demonstrated for the Rotary Club.

Flood waters on August 29th, as a result of Hurricane Harvey, inundated the church filling all the rooms and especially the sanctuary with several inches of water.

The pastor had no place to hold worship that was dry and safe, so they held several services outside in the parking lot of the church.

to the ROD. He admonished the group to keep working on closing the deal. He said, “This is harder than we can keep track of this schedule.” To this end, Yang asked everyone to send a letter to EPA seeking immediate, immediate action. In the meeting was a recurring theme of the questionings.

In her comments, Yang pointed out that further negotiations with EPA had achieved a gain in the amount of material that would be removed, from 36,000 tons to 213,000. Also, the standard of the pollution level to be adhered to has been retracted to allow for safer residual material.

At present, the removal process is expected to cost about $10.5 million, and would be paid for by the PRP, or Parties Undergirl-able Parties. In the case, it is McElroy’s, Industrial Material Corporation, now a division of Waste Manage- ment, and International Paper Company, the mill that garnered the waste.

It is expected that at least 37,000 truckloads of material would be removed from the site, and disposed of in a site that has a landfill. This would continue for about six years.

EPA law says that they will require the PRP, or their contractor to use “best management practices” to eliminate potential contamina-tion to the surrounding environment. Yang explained that the process of removal would require steel-scraps around the site, the material would be de-watered and removed dry, by excavation, not dredging. At this point in the meeting, a video of Frenchman Greg Grogan interviewing Scott Pruitt when he was in Houston was shown. He is describing the Superfund dispute around the nation, but would work to make sure the San Ja-cinto River is free from long-polluting. “He mentioned that he is done with the PRP to buy Harvey, Harvey, and has concen-trated for for future storms. He said, ‘People need confi-dence, they are safe.”

Yang then explained the audience on recent prob-lems with the cap and and post-hurricanes. In addition to the storm, there has been storms on the east side of the site from weather, and large traffic. Sampling of 14 sites found one site with 70,000 ppt of dioxin, which is the standard is only 30. So shown this side of the cap the next step is to make sure in the case that the site is not leaking on the East Edge.”

SCOTT Jones of the Galveston Bay Foundation made a presentation of the Superfund Site and the problems with the cap, and mentioning that EPA Superfund rules require that these sites be cleaned up to the national standard. The proposed cleanup would require steel coffer-dams around the site, five sites at the cap, and 30 sites at the PRP.

Another questioned why there was no concern about the waste pits leaking on the East Edge. “Another questioned whether the PRP would be responsible for the clean-up, instead of a third party. Young answered that the PRP had just said they would hold a public meeting in Highlands on 1140. Sen. pip it to all attend to get answers to questions.”

“All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit enabled them. Acts 2:4”

Are you facing a situation that seems too big to handle? Are you wondering what God is trying to tell you? Do you need something to give you hope in a difficult time? Is there a verse that applies to you and your situation?

Think about what is being said in John 1:1-4: “Then the Word became flesh and lived among us, And we saw His glory.” What is He trying to tell you? Is there one verse that applies to you and your situation? What are you going to do with it?

“Rise in the presence of the Lord and sing praises to our God.”

We cannot underscore the importance of the Word of God in our lives. It is not simply inspiring words on a piece of paper. It’s” quick and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword.””...for I’ve got power that’s too strong for you to take for granted. We read it. We hear it. We may even think about it.

“What is “fluorescence” in a diamond?”

Fluorescence is a diamond’s ability to absorb and release energy in the form of light. This phenomenon is often visible under ultraviolet light and can affect the appearance of a diamond. Fluorescence can be present in various degrees and in different colors, which can influence the diamond’s overall appearance.

Diamond Jim: “What is fluorescence in a diamond?”

Ask The Expert

Diamond Jim: “What is ‘fluorescence’ in a diamond?”

Fluorescence in a diamond is typically a faint blue reflection, although from time to time an orange or yellow color can be emitted as well. That blue light can actually give a diamond distinction from others primarily because it is a reaction unique to the diamond and more importantly what it means to your diamond.

First of all, what is fluorescence? Fluorescence is actually fairly simple when it comes to diamonds. Some diamonds reflect varying amounts of UV light, which most commonly comes from the sun and fluorescent lamps. The presence of this effect is usually not noticeable, or could even make your diamond look more desirable depending on the stones contained therein. Technically, fluorescence is considered an imperfection in a diamond. However, many in the diamond industry don’t really notice it, and more importantly what it means to your diamond.

However, many in the diamond industry don’t really notice it, and more importantly what it means to your diamond. For example, when you do come across a diamond that has fluorescence and more on how the diamond is affected, it really should be taken into account with a grain of salt. Many times, diamonds with fluorescence can actually look better than ones without. Understanding fluorescence can help you to better comprehend the rare instances that they can occur and the factors that influence a diamond’s color grade.

Will fluorescence be listed on the face-up appearance of the diamond? Yes. The GIA displays your diamond with fluorescence and more on how the diamond is affected. Technically, fluorescence is considered an imperfection in a diamond. However, many in the diamond industry don’t really notice it, and more importantly what it means to your diamond. For example, when you do come across a diamond that has fluorescence and more on how the diamond is affected, it really should be taken into account with a grain of salt. Many times, diamonds with fluorescence can actually look better than ones without. Understanding fluorescence can help you to better comprehend the rare instances that they can occur and the factors that influence a diamond’s color grade.

Diamond Jim: “What is fluorescence in a diamond?”

Ask The Expert

Diamond Jim: “What is ‘fluorescence’ in a diamond?”

Fluorescence is actually fairly simple when it comes to diamonds. Some diamonds reflect varying amounts of UV light, which most commonly comes from the sun and fluorescent lamps. The presence of this effect is usually not noticeable, or could even make your diamond look more desirable depending on the stones contained therein. Harris County Flood Control District Announces the Second Public Meeting for the Cedar Bayou Flood Risk Reduction Study

The Harris County Flood Control District (HCFCD) will hold its second public meeting of three for the Cedar Bayou Flood Risk Reduction Study in mid-November. Two meetings will be conducted in order to accommodate residents living in the Cedar Bayou watershed. While the locations will vary for the meetings, the same information will be shared at both meetings. Residents should plan to attend one of the two meetings. The meetings will be: – Monday, November 13, 2017 from 6:00 – 8:30 p.m. – Crosby Community Center 408 Bars Road, Crosby, Texas 77532 – Thursday, November 16, 2017 from 6:00 – 8:00 p.m. – Baytown Community Center 440 Market Street, Baytown, Texas 77520

The purpose of these meetings is to inform residents about the status of the Cedar Bayou Flood Risk Reduction Study and share initial data that has been gathered. Please note that both meeting locations are near the Cedar Bayou watershed, while both locations are situated just west of the watershed boundary. This is the second of three rounds of public meetings for this study. For questions, please contact the HCFCD Project and Study Information Line at 713-977-2555. Displays will be available for viewing at the second public meeting at 408 Bars Road, Crosby, Texas 77532.

Screenings to Identify Disabilities

CSID Special Education department provides screenings for children with suspected disabilities in an effort to identify every student with a disability who lives within the district’s boundaries. CSID is committed to providing excellence in education to all students, and the screenings are designed to help identify children who may qualify for the district’s special education programs. Eligible students who meet educational requirements with disabilities between the ages of 3 and 21 can be provided with services to assist their successful participation in school. Services and accommodations are provided to help students with disabilities achieve their goals. Information is also available online at https://www.csid.org/students/special-education/ or through the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act. Special education personnel also are available on call for eligible children who have a visual or auditory impairment.

If you have a child who may be challenged with a disability, please contact the Crosby ISD Special Education office at 281-328-9200, ext. 1109. If your child is already a student in Crosby ISD, please contact the counselor at your child’s school. The counselor will help you through the process. The special education personnel will coordinate efforts to evaluate the student and, if eligible, services that the student is provided with supports and services needed to benefit from instruction.

at East Houston Regional Medical Center. Though the facility has been damaged in the past, we have always been able to recover and resume operations. The damage from Hurricane Harvey was just not the right way forward for our patients or our employees. We remain committed to the East Har- rys County community, though. Patients may still seek care at our Bryan/College Station Medical Center, facilities, and local realty firm. Coas Division will work closely with East Houston Regional Medical Center to determine the future of the East Houston Hospital property.
