East Harris County inaugurates new bus service

Five New Transit Bus Routes Target Underserved Sections of Eastern Harris County

Free Ridership the first 60 Days

Houston, Texas - Nearly 200,000 northeast Harris County residents now have access to public transportation thanks to $3.8 million in Hurricane Harvey disaster recovery funding. Harris County Transit Services will expand its existing bus service to some of the communities hardest hit by floodwaters from the hurricane.

The new service will primarily serve areas of Channelview, Cloverleaf and Sheldon and provide an additional scheduled bus to the route serving Crosby/Barrett Station.

A soft launch of the new service occurred on December 2. The first 60 days are free to riders. After that, rides will be $1. The inaugural ceremony to mark the launch was held Wednesday. Dec. 18 at Joe V's Smart Shop parking lot, 5609

Harris County Commissioners Adrian Garcia, left, and Rodney Ellis speak at a ribbon-cutting ceremony announcing expansion of Harris County Transit Services' bus routes to Channelview, Cloverleaf and Sheldon – areas that were devastated by Hurricane Harvey. The service is funded by $3.8 million in Hurricane Harvey

"East Harris County has many needs. Public transportation is just one and for many, essential! I heard early in my administration how badly this area of my precinct was in need of a transportation system. I worked with our partners to make this happen for those in my precinct. I am thrilled to see this happening in a deserving community," said Precinct Two Commissioner Adrian Garcia.

Precinct One Commissioner Rodney Ellis added, "Mass transit is important to our community's success as our region continues to rapidly grow. The Sheldon area in Precinct One is a good example of a growing community where the addition of transit services will help the community thrive. Even if you own a car, I want to encourage everyone to take advantage of this new service and our mass transit options.

The new service will add roughly 65 additional route miles to the Harris County service map for a total of 185 miles. Five proposed new routes serving the Channelview, Cloverleaf and Sheldon areas and an added bus scheduled along the current route through Crosby/Barrett Station are being expanded with service for a conditional threeyear period. If ridership levels are high enough, Harris County Transit services will request more funding to continue the routes beyond the three

"We have worked with the Metropolitan Transit Authority to assure these routes provide connectivity to bus routes that make the Houston area accessible," said Harris County Community Services Department Director Daphne Lemelle.

Harris County Transit bus routes have served the East Harris County Community since 2008 with the launching of routes in Baytown, a service that now includes La Porte, McNair/ Barrett Station, Crosby and the Highlands, areas outside the Metro service map. The proposed new routes will expand Harris County Transit by an esti-

Social Security Matters

by AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor Russell Gloor Association of Mature American Citizens

Ask Rusty – How Can We Change Social Security's Earnings Limit?

Dear Rusty: How do we change the Social Security earnings cap amount? Do I need to go through my Congressman? Social Security is withholding my benefit because they say I earned too much. The system is very unfair! Signed: Disgruntled Worker

Dear Disgruntled: The Social Security earnings test has been a part of Social Security's rules and regulations since the original Social Security Act of 1935. In fact, benefits were originally paid only if someone was not working at all, and if a beneficiary worked after they started collecting, they lost all benefits. The law has undergone changes over the years to bring it to where it is today, which is to limit the amount of earnings someone can have while collecting Social Security prior to their full retirement age before taking back some benefits.

If the earnings limit is exceeded, and you have not yet reached your full retirement age, Social Security typically withholds your benefits until they recover what you owe for exceeding the limit. The limit is adjusted annually based upon changes to the National Wage Index, and the annual limit for 2020 is $18,240, up from $17,640 last year. There is also a "first year rule" which will subject those who haven't vet reached their full retirement age and claim benefits mid-year to a monthly limit (1/12th of the annual limit) for the remainder of that year. The earnings limit increases significantly (by about 2.6 times) during the year you reach your full retirement age (FRA), and goes away entirely once your FRA is at-

As you are probably aware, exceeding the limit will cause Social Security to take back $1 the limit, or if you're subject to the "first year rule" they will take back your entire benefit for any month you exceed the monthly limit. In the year you reach your FRA (but before your FRA) the "penalty" for exceeding the limit is less severe -$1 for every $3 over the limit. What you may not be aware of is that when you reach your full retirement age, Social Security will give you time credit for any months you did not receive benefits because you exceeded the earnings limit and receiving that time credit at your FRA will result in your benefit being increased. For example, if, over the years before you reached vour FRA, Social Security withheld 12 months of benefits due to you exceeding the earnings limit, when you reach your full retirement age Social Security will recalculate your benefit to account for those 12 months by changing your claim date to 12 months later than when you actually applied. That will increase your benefit somewhat and, as a result, you may be able to eventually recoup some, or all, of the benefits which were withheld (depending upon your longevity).

How can we change the earnings cap? Well, the earnings limit already increases automatically each year with changes to the National Wage Index. But if you mean how can we eliminate it, I'm not optimistic that is possible since it would require full Congressional approval as well as Executive Branch approval to do so, and since Congress is now more focused on Social Security's broader issue of the Trust Fund being depleted in about 2035 (which will result in an across-the-board cut in benefits unless Congress acts sooner). Nevertheless, you should certainly feel free to bring your concerns about Social Security's "earnings cap" to the attention of your Congressional Representatives. Congressional Representatives are always willing to hear and understand the concerns of their constituents, and Social Security is very much a topic of discussion in Congress today.

Paxton lauds 5th Circuit ruling against Affordable Care Act

AUSTIN — After the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit declared the individual mandate in "Obamacare" unconstitutional on Dec. 18, Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton expressed his agreement.

"The Fifth Circuit's holding is clear: the federal government cannot order private citizens to purchase subpar insurance products that they don't want." Paxton said. "The individual mandate is the centerpiece of Obamacare and I am glad the Fifth Circuit recognized that it is unlawful."

Paxton said he looks forward to demonstrating in federal district court that the rest of the law cannot stand without the individual mandate, and added:

"Yesterday's decision is a win for the rule of law," he said. "Finally being rid of this law will be a victory for all Americans."

ry for all Americans."

The lawsuit against the federal government was filed in U.S. District Court in the Northern District of Texas by Paxton and a list of other state attorneys general. Paxton said it would be up to the lower court to determine whether any part of the U.S. Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act of 2010, referred to as "Obamacare," can remain, in light of the mandate's unconstitutionality.

In Texas and 38 other states where the federal government administers health exchanges, health insurance premiums rose an average of 105 percent from 2013 to 2017, Paxton said.

The U.S. Supreme

Court upheld Obamacare in 2012, but a majority of the justices agreed that the law's individual mandate was constitutional only because its accompanying tax penalty could justify forcing individuals to purchase health insurance under Congress' taxing ower. Devoid of that pen alty, Obamacare's individual mandate cannot be preserved as a tax, rendering Obamacare entirely unlawful, Paxton said.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling

Meanwhile, according to U.S. Census data, an estimated five million Texas residents, or nearly 18 percent of the state's population, do not have health increments.

TPWD promotes hikes

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department on Dec. 20 encouraged Texans "to kick off the next decade of adventures at a Texas State Park by participating in a First Day Hike."

To foster the effort, the agency scheduled a variety of events on New Year's Day. First Day Hikes aim to help visitors commit to their New Year's resolutions to get healthy, the agency said agency said.

First Day Hikes events include strolls on scenic trails, midnight walks, polar plunges, bike rides and short treks with four-legged family members and more strenuous hikes for experienced visitors.

Last year, according to Texas Parks & Wildlife, 77 state parks hosted First Day Hike events in which an estimated 4,000 participants walked, paddled and biked.

A list of events is posted online at tpwd.texas.gov.

Jobless rate stays low

The Texas Workforce Commission on Dec. 20 announced that the Lone Star State's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate held steady at 3.4% in November.

The rate marks the sixth consecutive month of record low unemployment in the state. Also, 3.4% is the lowest unemployment rate since series tracking began in 1976, according to an agency news release.

The Midland Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) recorded November's lowest unemployment rate among Texas MSAs with a non-seasonally adjusted rate of 2.1%, followed by the Amarillo and Austin-Round Rock MSAs each with an adjusted rate of 2.5%. The College Station-Bryan and Lubbock MSAs each recorded the third lowest rate at 2.6%.

Reps vote on impeachment

The U.S. House of Representatives on Dec. 18 voted to approve two articles of impeachment against President Donald Trump.

The vote on Article I, Abuse of Power, was 230 for, 197 against and 1 present/not voting. The vote on Article II, Obstruction of Congress, was 229 for, 198 against and 1 present/not voting.

For Texas' 36-member
House delegation, the vote was partisan. All 23 Republicans voted not to approve both articles and all 13 Democrats voted to approve both articles.

As of the deadline for this column, the articles of impeachment had not been forwarded to the U.S. Senate, where the president would be tried in accordance with Article 3 of the U.S. Constitution, with the Honorable John Roberts, chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, presiding.

THE POSTSCRIPT By Carrie Classon

"Sparkles"

I glanced up as the bells rang to herald new customers walking into the used clothing store. I was looking for a pair of warm dress pants. Visiting my parents in Minnesota, I had forgotten entirely about the possibility of extreme cold and the idea of going out that night in tights and a skirt seemed preposterous.

Luckily, I found a likenew pair of black jeans with just a little sparkle on the pocket for a good price. I was wandering around the store with these jeans in my hand—just in case I saw something else that I might need—while I waited for the line at the check-out counter to get a little shorter. Maybe I could find a silver jacket, I thought, that would look nice on a cold winter night.

A woman and man had parked their pick-up outside and come into the store. The woman marched in a determined fashion to a rack in the middle of the store. She was a heavyset woman and it looked as if she had located this rack on a previous visit. She approached with a grim determination.

She and the man she was with were standing in front of the rack of dark colored clothing as I slipped by with my sparkly jeans in hand. The woman was holding out an article of clothing for the man's inspection.

"They'll all be wearing sparkly clothes," she said, sounding dejected. "This is just black... not sparkly."

I almost said, "Sparkles are fun!" because they are—and because she sounded so sad that I wanted to say something to cheer her up. But I realized this was probably not the right thing to say so I stood silent, my back to the couple reviewing the unseen, unsparkled outfit that I suspected was going to be worn very soon.

"I think it will look good," the man said—rather unconvincingly, I thought.

The woman stood silent, holding the black garment, visualizing (I am quite sure) a room full of happy women in sparkly dresses.

She sighed. "Okay. Let's go." She took the black garment to the front counter without trying it on and moments later they were gone. They whole transaction took less than ten minutes and seemed completely void of holiday cheer.

I went home with my sparkly jeans and wore them out that night with an old friend. We stayed up late, laughing at the crazy things we had done together over the years and sharing crazy plans for the new year. But, after he was gone, for some reason I thought again of the unhappy woman I'd seen earlier in the day.

I wondered where she had gone, where this room of sparkly women had been and if the black garment had pleased her once she had finally tried it on. I suddenly felt unreasonably sad and wished that she had found something with sparkles on it—something silver or red or gold or green—something that would have made her happy and excited to greet the New Year.

There are so many expectations at this time of year. Sometimes it's too much. Sometimes it is just too hard.

I watched the snow begin to fall and was filled with terrible feeling of tenderness and gratitude and a desire to try—to try a bit harder this year. I am going to try to be kinder. I'm going to try to slow down. I'm going to try to feel all of it in this new year—even the parts that hurt.

Maybe those in particu-

several decades," said Gary Piana, Chair of the EHCMA board. "Through this grant we are pledging to both Harris County and the citizens of east Harris County that we are committed to making further enhancements to our safety performance, communication and transparency.

Piana also pointed out that industry is making private air monitoring data available to TCEQ and Harris County to ensure they have the data necessary to make in-formed decisions about public health and safety during industry events. The Houston Regional Monitoring network board approved providing monitoring data to Harris County during a recent board meeting. Industry members reinforced a commitment to work with Harris County and to develop a model that can be used in other jurisdictions in the region and across the na-

"Industry values the partnership with Harris County, especially Commissioner Garcia in Precinct 2 where many of our industry facilities operate," said Hector Rivero, President of TCC. "Our members are committed to working with Harris County and the local cities, and developing a model that will enhance similar collaborative working relationships in the region and across the nation.

In addition to the $1 million grant, the industry group is also proposing to provide Harris County with specific air monitor data that can help inform public health and safety decisions in the event of an incident. Additionally, industry will develop an "Industry 101" program that can help educate government officials and first responders about industry facilities and operations

"This is a significant first step toward ensuring Harris County becomes a national model and leads the way in collaboration between industry, community organizations and government to promote a healthy and economically strong area. Together we can work to ensure our residents feel safe, engaged and educated about our industry neighbors," said Commissioner Garcia

Walking into 2020

As we are all walking into 2020, we have plenty of opportunities to make a difference. The differences can be in our own lives. such as starting a new workout program, perhaps by joining the Social Strider Walking Club (See details in the Community Involvement Column). Walkers should be prepared to not just walk but to pick up the trash along their journey and make new friends as well. This Saturday there is an opportunity for children and youth to participate in the First Annual Dre Day Baseball Camp being sponsored by The Dre Nelson Foundation. Community members are invited to pray for the success of the Camp as well as for the young people in attendance to learn not only baseball skills but to learn about how community members work together to make life better. In speaking with Dre earlier this week, registrations were slowly coming in but suddenly prayer warriors gathered and prayed and as of Monday afternoon, registrations had doubled AND donations from local businesses were coming in to help stuff camp bags for the attendees

For those who do not know Drevian Nelson, not only is he a North Shore Graduate, but currently he is playing Major League Baseball. He wants to give back when home and make a positive difference in the lives of the younger athletes. His personal testimony of pushing forward after his mother passed away of cancer in 2011 is one that many people need to hear. When life throws curveballs, you have to know how to handle them. This camp will surely be a lifechanging experience for those attending and in talking with him, I could ing to help others in his voice. At the time of the article, he has already received commitments of donations from Jessi Juarez owner of Gatti's as well as Judge Joe Stephens, Constable Sherman Eagleton and local business owner Kris tina Zatopek.

As the day progressed on Monday, Freddie Evans reached out to share about an opportunity for area adults to mentor those young people who may have made a mistake or two and got sidetracked with their athleteic dreams. He is looking for adults to stand in the gap and mentor young people about bridging the gap between dreams that may have fallen through, yet stepping in to help these voung athletes get up, dust themselves off and still learn valuable life skills. Freddie is someone who believes in second chances and rehabilitation. The new program will be called Street Athlete Mentors (SAM) and keep watching for detail of how you can be involved and make a difference.

As we have moved into 2020, we have seen too many negative headlines and instead of contributing to the negativity, you are invited by Pastor Bob Jones to join others Friday night at 7 p.m. at the La Quinta on the Beltway at Wallisville to pray for the community. The group will meet for 90 minutes and pray for the issues that are touching our lives daily including crime, homelessness gang activity, struggling businesses and those aging in our community and for answers as to how we can all help.

Hope to see you along the journey in 2020.

ASK DIAMOND JIM

Diamond Jim: "I'm so confused. Why do the jewelry stores at the malls offer big discounts?"

The 30-50-70% off banners hang everywhere in the malls and "big box" jewelry stores. I believe that most customers KNOW those discounts are a sham, and don't really believe that they are getting 60-70% off the ORIGINAL price at all. But many still believe they are getting SOME kind of a deal, whether true or not.

I personally am not a fan of discounting because it presumes one of three things:

1) The customer is get-ting a real deal, in which case I wonder where the margins will come from to run the business. Good for the consumer, bad for the

2) You can compete long term on a "lowest price" model. But there is generally only one winner in that

3) The "lowest price" model is actually misleading and illusionary. There likely would be enough customers who are smart enough to see through that, and ultimately it will reflect very poorly on the store in the short and long term.

Retail stores will choose for themselves which is the best course for them, be it price value or non-price val-ue. But whichever direction one chooses, I believe it ought to have at its core the basic premise of price integrity!!! 70% OFF may appear to work for them in the short-term... but it is not a sound strategy for longterm growth or for custom-er loyalty. It is generally ness! I prefer to have integrity in pricing...and deal with those stores that have integrity in pricing. I have devoted my business life to providing quality and value for a fair price. When on the other side of the counter I always ask myself... is it the truth... and is it fair? I do the same when behind my own counter. I think consumers should do the same when choosing where to spend their money, and give serious consideration to truth and integrity in pricing. And if a business chooses to price its products appropriately and fairly and sell on value while full well knowing it won't win the customer who is hell-bent on getting a "deal", then that company should owe no apology to anyone for that strategy. The store with the most integrity in pricing will more than likely have the same values and integrity in all of its dealings with you. And THAT is the store with which I choose to do busi-

Start Organizing Now

It's never too early to organize your tax records for the 2020 tax season. Being proactive in your tax preparation not only helps allevi-ate the stress of filing next year's return, it also provides the opportunity to face the tax collector with confidence—and to minimize the potential for mistakes once the new year rolls around.

Creating a new file now to hold tax documents and receipts is a good place to start, while gathering information on any new credits or deductions you're likely to claim next year can make it easier to complete related forms in the future. You can also begin to estimate the tax bracket you're likely to fall within when taxes are due, as well as any steps you can take to mitigate your expected tax burden.

Mustangs State Champions,

tive citizens. Sports is an excellent place to teach responsibility teamwork and leadership and it can only be accomplished when coaches make it a priority and not just the winning of Allan Jamail, North Channel Star writer asked Coach Kay how this back to back win compared to his winning two other state championships. Kay said he couldn't give a comparison between them He said, "I never thought about the possibility of back to back wins and it was never a part of our preparation. We were concentrating on winning this one game and not getting caught up in what it would mean of winning back to back championships."

In the first half of the game

both teams played equally as well as the other with a half-time score of 17-17. But then the North Shore Eastside Boys defensive unit shifted gears by shutting out the Panthers keeping them scoreless for the last two quarters.

The Mustangs defensive standouts were, Jordan Polart, Joseph Wilson, Upton Stout, Caleb James, Corey Flagg, Aaron Brown, Jaden Rudolph, Marcus Cockrell, Alonzo Brown and Jermaine Caldwell.

In the second half Duncanville was threatening a TD on the Nshore 3 yard line but the defense led by Senior linebacker Corey Flagg, the game's Defensive Most Valuable Player made a key stop on the Panthers star running back Trys-ten Smith forcing a turnover on downs. Again in the fourth quarter with the Mustangs leading 24-17 the Panthers could have tied the game with a TD but the defense shut them down once more forcing a punt. When it looked like the Mustang offense was sitting on a one touchdown (TD) lead late in the game quarterback Dematrius Davis connected on a 44 yard TD pass to Charles King with 2:33 left on the game clock. This forced the Panthers to have to pass and North Shore knew it, the defense either sacked or made the quarterback throw the ball out of bounds stopping any threat

Leading the offense was quarterback Dematrius Davis passing for 91 yards with 2 TD's and running for 122 yards and 1 TD. Running back Roger Hagan ran for 105 yards and 2 TD's Receivers Charles King, Syncere Green, Ismael Fuller and Zorhan Rideaux caught passes with King's fourth quarter TD pass icing the game.
