140 million votes nationwide, Biden on top; Mayor Moya reelected in Galena Park; Constables Garcia, Eagleton win

HARRIS COUNTY – Voters went to the polls in record numbers for both early voting, and election day votes. In the county over 1,610,000 votes were recorded, and in the nation over 140,000,000 votes were cast.

Unofficial results have been tabulated for all but the Presidential race, where at press time five states were still counting, and with Joe Biden leading, Donald Trump has filed lawsuits challenging the results.

In Harris County, Biden received 56% of the vote, or 911,913 while Trump received 43% or 699,771 votes. However, statewide in Texas Trump had the lead, as did most Republicans seeking office.

For Texas Senator, John Cornyn was reelected over Democratic challenger M.J. Hegar.

Incumbent U.S. Representatives Sheila Jackson Lee was returned with 73% of the votes, and Sylvia Garcia with 71%.

For state office, Carol Alvarado was reelected for State Senate in District 6, and State Representatives reelected included Armand Walle, Senfronia Thompson, and Ana Hernandez, all running unopposed.

JOE BIDEN
PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

In a strongly contested race for District Attorney, Kim Ogg retained her seat with 54% of the vote, against challenger Mary Nan Huffman.

For Harris County Attorney, Christian Dashaun Menefee defeated John Nation with 55% of the vote in his favor. Menefee is the first minority race HC Attorney. He replaces the retiring Vince Ryan.

ESMERALDA MOYA
GALENA PARK MAYOR

For Harris County Sheriff, the popular incumbent Ed Gonzalez defeated Joe Danna. Gonzalez had 57% of the vote, Danna 43%.

Two races had candidates trying to regain their old positions. For Tax Assessor-Collector, Ann Harris Bennett defeated the previous office holder Chris Daniel, with 53% of the vote. For County Clerk, Teneshia Hudspeth had 54% against previous clerk Stan Stanart.

Harris County had an important race for County Commissioner. With incumbent commissioner

JERRY GARCIA
CONSTABLE PCT. 2

Steve Radack retiring, the voters in Precinct 5 sent another Republican to the panel. Tom Ramsey was elected with 52% of the vote, versus Michael Moore with 47%.

Two Constable races were followed with great interest. In Precinct 2, Jerry Garcia had defeated incumbent Chris Diaz in the primary, and in the general election he won over the Republican challenger Daniel Vela with 61.6% of the vote. Garcia had 51,333 votes, Vela had 32,103 votes.

In Constable district

Precinct 3, popular incumbent Sherman Eagleton was challenged by Andre Hines. Eagleton got 60% of the vote, or 72,429 ballots, versus Hines 48,064 or 40%.

GALENA PARK

In a highly contested Mayoral race, incumbent Esmeralda Moya was returned to office, with 51% of the vote, or 1,318 ballots. Challengers Maria Cortez-Ochoa had 16% or 420 votes, and Barry Ponder garnered 33% or 863 votes.

On the Galena Park commissioner's court, Zenaida Granados won 55% to return to Position 1; Veronica Garcia 67% for Position 3; and Maricela Serna got 51.4% for Position 4.

For Channelview school trustees, Shumona Collins had 51.4% and defeated Keith Liggett in Position 1, and Hector Martinez won over Steve Dennis with 59.7% in Position 2.

Galena Park ISD trustees elected to the board included Herbert Sanchez, with 42% for Position 5, and Noe Esparza with 56% for Position 6.

Mustangs Stampede over Humble Wildcats 55-6

By Allan Jamail

Humble, TX. - Thursday, October 29th at Turner Stadium the North Shore Mustangs easily defeated the Humble ISD Wildcats 55 to 6.

Once again Coach Jon Kay's Mustangs scored at will against another weak appearing 21-6A district team. His team in only 6 games has racked up 275 points and that's using his bench a lot. His defense including backup players has only allowed 99 points to be scored on them.

No fault to Coach Kay, he plays the schedule given him, but while these runaway one-sided victories are good for the fans, is it good for the team? Is it possible players will become too over confident and get upset when they're matched up with an equal powerful team in the playoffs?

Despite the Mustangs back-to-back state championships, and having last year beat both the Katy Tigers and the Duncanville Panthers MaxPreps a high school football ranking organization has North Shore ranked below them.

North Shore players scoring, David Amador (1 TD), Charles King (2 TD's), Shadrach Banks (2 TD's), Brannon Davis (1TD), Daveon Ford (1TD) and Christian Ross (1TD). Quarterback Dematrius Davis

Mustangs score on their first play of the game on a 35 yard pass from Dematrius Davis to sophomore #8 David Amador at the goal line.

Mustang #14 Charles King crossing the goal line after catching a 23 yard Dematrius Davis pass.

#2 Mustangs wide receiver Shadrach Banks catches a pass from Dematrius Davis for a 58 yard scoring play.

Harris County makes $1,200 in COVID-19 relief money available

HARRIS COUNTY — Harris County has issued a new $40 million COVID-19 relief fund to help residents in need during the pandemic that will be administered by Houston Catholic Charities.

It's set to open on Monday, Nov. 2, and will accept applications through Friday, Nov. 6.

The program will provide one-time payments of $1,200 to up to 33,333 families struggling with financial hardships related to COVID-19.

The payments will be distributed in two rounds. The first round is already underway and is assisting families who applied, but did not receive help from the county's coronavirus relief program launched earlier this summer.

The second "public" round begins on Monday when anyone can apply.

The money can be used for any type of emergency expense, such as housing, food, utilities, healthcare, childcare and transportation.

Families can apply on their own without cooperation from a landlord or anyone else.

"Thousands of families across Harris County have struggled to overcome the financial damage from COVID-19," said Harris County Judge Lina Hidalgo. "While this relief will not reach everyone who needs it, we must do everything in our power to help those who are vulnerable pull through."

The fund is entirely need-based, and the money will be distributed equally across the county's four precincts.

Harris County residents living inside the city of Houston will not be excluded.

Applicants may apply online at CatholicCharitiesHelp.org starting Nov. 2.

Since the application process requires applicants to upload documents, all applications must be submitted online. For those who want help or who have questions may call the hotline at 832-990-1318 Monday through Saturday between 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Crosby Superintendent unveils district's finances

CROSBY — The status of Crosby ISD in recovery from the state of financial exigency was recently revealed by Superintendent Dr. Scott Davis.

"The With the adoption of the fiscal year 2020 audit, Crosby ISD now sits at the TEA minimum recommendation for fund balance totals. TEA recommends an unassigned fund balance of 15% of the current year's expenditure budget. Crosby's unassigned fund balance is now sitting at 19.78% of our 2020-2021 expenditure budget. TEA also recommends a total fund balance of 25% of the current year's expenditure budget. Crosby's total fund balance now sits at 26.42% of the 2020-2021 expenditure budget. The conservative budget approach and goal of living within our means has, in concert with assistance from HB3 funding, come together with the collective will of the school board and staff to get us to this positive and healthy financial position."

Some questioned how the school's audit might come out this year, Davis addressed this also.

"The 2020 audit had no findings, errors, or concern with the financial position of Crosby ISD. This now finds Crosby ISD with two years of positive and improving audits. Recent conversations with bond rating agencies and bond disclosure groups also find that the finance world agrees with the positive financial improvement and position with changes from negative outlooks to positive outlooks as Crosby ISD seeks to refund bonds in an effort to save over $15 million in interest over the life of the bonds."

CROSBY ISD SUPERINTENDENT SCOTT DAVIS

This school year has been especially challenging for most school district to maintain enrollment and keep up with changing pandemic requirements.

"Despite the challenges of education in a COVID environment, Crosby ISD has only seen a decrease of 1.6% in enrollment from this time last school year. We still have 6331 students attending Crosby ISD. The majority of that decrease can be found in parents of Pre-K and Kindergarten students whose parents have chosen to keep their students at home for one more year while we all learn to live with COVID in our society. We have also seen our numbers of face-to-face students grow from 39% to 58% from the first nine weeks to the second nine weeks. Our health, safety, and cleaning efforts have helped Crosby ISD keep our active COVID cases low after an initial rise when we all came back to face-to-face. Honestly, that was to be expected as everyone had largely been apart since Spring Break last school year. Now, we are working to maintain academic rigor and contact with our students in both instructional settings. Our parents and staff have worked together well to navigate these uncharted territories with remote instruction. Our first nine-week failure rates for students did increase from the same grading periods in 2019-2020, but our teachers are tirelessly working to reach out to students in remote settings to help them succeed. As an educator for 28 years, it will always be better for the majority of students to attend school face-to-face with teachers whenever that is possible and practical. I respect parents' decisions to keep kids home during this pandemic, but whenever possible, it is more productive for the majority of students to come to campuses."

Davis had a word for his fellow workers in the school district.

"I am most proud of our teachers and other support staff. Truly, these last months have been something out of our wildest imaginations! While we used to only speak of grit, determination, our amazing district employees now display those traits on a daily basis. We are humbled to work for those heroes and support them as they continue to make positive differences in the lives of our wonderful students. This is why Crosby ISD exists. We absolutely had to address the financial problems, but now that those difficulties have been addressed and we are moving positively forward. We can re-engage the lion's share of the focus to moving Crosby ISD into the future with confidence and great possibility."

Therapy Dogs make Life - and Death easier

What are grief therapy dogs? Meet Axl and Izzy, who work full-time at this Houston funeral home

‘They are with us every day at our funeral home, and assist with all of our daily activities’

Meet Axl and Izzy. Axl, also known as “Grief Therapy Dood” and Izzy, “Grief Therapy Doodette,” are certified therapy dogs and work full-time as grief therapy dogs at Carter-Conley Funeral Home in Houston.

Although there are several others in Texas and throughout the country, Axl and Izzy are the only certified therapy dogs assisting full-time at a funeral home in Houston, according to Carter-Conley Funeral Home.

Axl and Izzy, with their “parents” and owners of Carter-Conley Funeral Home, Lisa and Brad Conley, also volunteer at nursing and senior living homes, medical facilities, community events and other places where happiness is needed.

Axl began his career at Carter-Conley Funeral Home at just 2 months old, a job that involved traveling to work with the Conleys every day, socializing with people and beginning his training with a dog trainer, who was also a licensed mortician. Axl later received his certification as a therapy dog and continues to comfort families at Carter-Conley Funeral home at a time when they need it most.

As for Izzy, she was adopted from a family after Lisa and Brad Conley responded to a re-homing request. After meeting her, they just couldn't resist that little black fluff ball, they said, and decided to add another therapy “dood” to the pack.

“Axl and Izzy have become best buds, and it is obvious that Izzy looks up to her big brother,” Lisa and Brad Conley said. “He is the best role model.”

Izzy began training to be a therapy dog immediately, and she started joining Axl and their “parents” at the funeral home every day. Izzy responded well to interacting with people and always seemed comfortable with the unique scenarios and equipment that is encountered at the funeral home and places they visit.

Once the Conleys felt confident that she could meet all of the requirements of the therapy dog certification, Izzy went through the testing process. Following in big brother Axl's paw-prints, Izzy became a certified therapy dog.

Axl and Izzy have their own scheduled therapy visits where they are happily welcomed by the residents and staff every week at a local retirement home, along with their regular therapy visits at a local rehabilitation facility, and of course, both working every day at their full-time jobs at Carter-Conley Funeral Home.

“Axl and Izzy are always on the move and are happy to ride along with us wherever we go,” the Conleys said. “They are with us every day at our funeral home and assist with all of our daily activities, including welcoming guests, comforting the families during the planning/arrangement meeting — they walk around and mingle, usually entertaining and bringing much-needed smiles to the family members and friends of the deceased during services.”

Lisa and Brad Conley continued, saying it's fun to watch the joy and comfort that the dogs truly bring to people.

“Not only do they bring happiness to the families that we serve, but our employees enjoy having them around, as well,” they said. “Having therapy dogs Axl, and now Izzy, at our funeral home has been a wonderful and unique form of support and an invaluable addition to our lives and the lives of the families that we serve.”

More fun facts from the Conleys:

“Axl and Izzy and both Golden DOODles, and that is how we came up with Axl's title, ‘Grief Therapy Dood’ and Izzy, ‘Grief Therapy Doodette.’”

They are each named after members of the rock band Guns N' Roses.

COUNTY CONNECTION

Harris County Judge Lina Hidalgo

Applause for our Voters and Poll Workers

Harris County, you never fail to impress. Across the country, people are buzzing about the incredible numbers of voters we have had during our early vote period. By the time early voting shut down last Friday after 18 days, 1,435,221 (or 57.85% of registered voters) had cast their ballots. That is well beyond the total number of voters for each of the entire 2016 and 2018 elections! You have come through this election season by volunteering to help folks register, working the polls, and generally offering one another the support and encouragement we all need to believe that we can make a difference. We are a strong, resilient, and driven community and we are determined to have our voices heard, both within Texas and across the country. I have never been more proud of our residents and our tireless poll workers who are making this incredible movement of civic participation happen.

And while you all are showing up for this election like never before, Harris County government has been working harder than ever before to make your voting experience what you need it to be. We are bending over backwards to make sure that our polls are safe for you to visit — by offering masks, hand sanitizer, wipes, and finger coverings, and ensuring social distancing. We tripled the number of early vote locations and worked with partners to open large accessible venues such as the Toyota Center, NRG, and BBVA Stadium. For the first time, we offered drive-thru voting and had a day in which polls were open 24 hours. We are doing everything we can to make the voting process what it should be — safe, secure, and accessible so that every eligible resident can confidently exercise their right to vote, and in the middle of a global pandemic, no less.

Tomorrow, November 3rd, is election day, your final day to vote. So many of you have already cast your ballots in this election, but, for those who haven't, please don't miss this chance to make history. If you requested a mail-in ballot, please drop it off at the county's mail ballot drop-off location at NRG Park. If you're voting in person, I promise it will be as painless as possible. I know you won't let your county or your country down.

It's never been easier or more important. Make a plan, make it happen, change our future — Vote!

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Chris Cobler

It's not just Election Day any longer

For most Texans, Election Day is a misnomer. More Texans voted early this year than cast their ballots during all of the 2016 general election. Many more voted early than went to the polls on Election Day.

A record 9.7 million people, or 57% of registered voters, completed their civic duty during the extended early voting period of Oct. 13-30, or by mail, according to the Texas Secretary of State.

Voters don't register by party in Texas, so political pundits could only speculate about whether the record early turnout favored either Democrats or Republicans. Either way, the intense voter interest is unquestioned. When final election results are in, the state's percentage of registered voters who cast ballots was expected to surpass 60% for the first time since the early 1990s.

20 YEARS OF DEATHS DAILY ON TEXAS ROADS

Texas is approaching a deadly milestone that the Texas Department of Transportation is working to prevent.

The last deathless day on Texas roads was Nov. 7, 2000. Through its campaign #EndTheStreak, TxDOT is trying to stop 20 consecutive years of daily deaths on Texas roads. During that time, more than 70,000 people have died.

An average of 10 people die every day in crashes in the state.

"This is so horrific. Come on Texas! We can do better!" said Dr. Beverly Thompson Kuhn of the Texas A&M Transportation Institute.

A&M STUDY ANALYZES MEDICAID EXPANSION

The state of Texas could deal with part of its looming budget shortfall by expanding Medicaid coverage, according to Republican Rep. Lyle Larson

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

State Capital

By Chris Cobler

of San Antonio.

Larson's position, endorsed by the Texas Medical Association, came in response to a new Texas A&M study that Medicaid expansion would bring the state about $5.4 billion from the federal government. Texas is one of 12 states that have chosen to not participate in Medicaid expansion under the Affordable Care Act.

Most state Republicans strongly oppose the Affordable Care Act, which is going before the U.S. Supreme Court.

"As we address the budget shortfall in the next session, we should seriously consider accessing federal Medicaid funding," Larson tweeted. "This recently released study shows Texas is losing out on $5.4 billion while 38 other states are taking the federal dollars."

NEW LAW PROTECTS BREASTFEEDING MOTHERS

Women are allowed to pump breast milk anywhere in public, the Texas Comptroller's Office reminded the public in its latest issue of "Tax Policy News."

A bill passed in the last legislative session aims to make it clear for businesses and employers that breast pumping in public is allowed just as breastfeeding already was under Texas law.

Texas Health and Human Services offers support for breastfeeding mothers. The Texas Lactation Support Hotline number is 855-550-6667.

BUTTERFLIES ARE FREE; LICENSE PLATE IS $30

You can soon buy a Texas license plate that floats like a butterfly, or at least appears to do so.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department recently announced the winner of its newest conservation license plate design. The public selected its favorite monarch butterfly design through an online survey.

Proceeds from the sale of the plates go to help conserve monarch butterflies and other at-risk, non-game species native to Texas. To be notified when the plates go on sale in March, sign up at <http://bit.ly/TP-WDEmailNotification>.

CHANGES PROPOSED TO SEXUAL ASSAULT LAWS

Look for laws regarding sexual assault to change in the upcoming legislative session.

The Sexual Assault Survivors' Task Force has issued its first report to the Texas Legislature. The group began meeting earlier this year after being created by the passage of House Bill 1590 during the 2019 session.

The report includes 11 policy recommendations for the upcoming legislative session. A few of those:

- Remove law enforcement's ability to decline forensic medical examinations for sexual assaults reported within 120 hours and clarify language pertaining to law enforcement's ability to decline forensic medical examinations outside of 120 hours.

- Require law enforcement to complete the Office of the Attorney General's Law Enforcement Request for Sexual Assault Exam form for every sexual assault that is reported to them.

- Require that a forensic medical exam be offered to all children who report a sexual assault, including cases reported more than 120 hours post-assault.

- Remove the word "alleged" when referencing a sexual assault or other sex offense.

One-third of adult Texans, or 6.3 million people, have experienced sexual assault at some point in their lives, according to a 2015 study by the University of Texas at Austin's Institute on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault.

"Early Snow"

This has been a year that defies explanations.

I spoke with my parents a week or so ago. We have used Zoom and other types of video to communicate but, more often than not, I just call up my dad, he puts me on speaker, and we chat as we always have.

My parents were about to go skiing. They live in the north, but they don't live on the North Pole. It was much too early to cross-country ski, but they'd had an early snow and my mom decided they should give it a try.

"You know what is going to happen," I told them.

"Uh-huh," my dad said. "First the snow is going to stick to the bottom of your skis, then the leaves are going to stick," I told them. "You are going to be stuck in place!" I felt like the voice of doom, truth-telling to my very experienced 80-some-year-old parents.

"Yeah," my mother admitted, "I'm sure you're right!" I could tell this would not deter her for a minute.

My husband, Peter, and I were preparing for a visit from my former brother-in-law, Jason. This is the first visitor we've had in eight months and his visit precipitated a lot of housecleaning. There are places we just don't get around to cleaning until we are confronted with the prospect of company.

"The baseboards in the bathroom were filthy!" Peter informed me.

"Your desk is covered in dust!" I told him.

We cleaned places we hadn't looked at closely in three-quarters of a year so that we could entertain Jason, who spent almost the entire time on our patio, which Peter swept for the occasion. Peter made his famous enchiladas, and I made my Aunt Betty's apple squares, and it was a lovely evening. Peter built a fire and we sat around and talked until much later than I usually stay up.

Jason's father, my former father-in-law, is 94 and failing and Jason is driving all the way from California to Wisconsin to see him—even though he knows he'll have to visit his father through a window, even though he'll have to drive through a lot of illness and some early winter storms to get there.

"I didn't think I was going!" Jason told me, just before he left. He sounded a little surprised.

But he ended up renting a car and is driving to see his dad, who now weighs only 100 pounds, who may or may not recognize him when he gets there, and who is no longer able to converse.

"I wasn't going to go," Jason repeated. "But now I'm going."

For quite a while, I've been trying to let go of expectations. People say that holding too tightly to our expectations only leads to unhappiness, but I've always had a hard time letting them go. I like the idea that I have some idea of where my life is headed and what is going to happen next.

A few hours after I spoke with my parents, I saw a photo posted on Facebook of my mom on her skis in the woods. Their house was nowhere in sight so they must have made it some distance. I'm sure it wasn't great skiing—but that wasn't really the point, was it?

If this year has taught me anything, it's that maybe I need to let go of some of my expectations of how things work. This isn't the year for them.

I looked again at the photo of my mom. She's skiing in the early snow and smiling.

Till next time,

Donnie was born at home, the third of what would eventually be seven children, in 1933, the depth of the Great Depression. He grew up working on a farm and joined the Navy in 1950 during the Korean war and achieved the rank of 2nd Class Petty Officer. He met his future wife, Sharon White, at a drugstore soda fountain in 1954. They married in 1956, were later blessed with three sons whom they enjoyed raising in their community.

Donnie and Sharon were always together, and he stayed with her, never leaving her side for the rest of his life. He loved God, and was a faithful member of Dell Dale Avenue Baptist Church. Donnie was, in every sense of every word, a husband, father, grandfather, brother and servant of God.

He worked for Armco Steel for 28 years until retiring in 1983. Donnie and Sharon began Ballew Air and Heat in 1968 and they continue to serve the community faithfully. His son Bob and grandson Brian are carrying on the business- serving the community. Don was known as a mentor for many AC/Heat technicians and gave them a start by providing internships. He allowed his grandsons to work during the summers and these are times they will cherish forever.

He was also a mentor to many of the men of The Table Ministry and especially to his son's friends who looked to him as a father figure. He was an avid gardener, an award-winning beekeeper, and enjoyed his family time. Donnie was known to many as “Poppa” and will be missed by all who knew him.

Clemson visits ND in meeting of the top five teams; Texans return from Bye week with trip to Jacksonville

It's been a tough season thus far for Texas' two professional football teams.

The Texans lost six of their first seven games and return from their bye week with a trip to Jacksonville to take on the only team they have beaten so far this season. Up I-45, the Dallas Cowboys entered the 2020 season with Super Bowl aspirations, but have looked anything but a SB contender. After losing quarterback Dak Prescott to a horrible ankle injury, head coach Mike McCarthy turned to former Cincinnati starting QB Andy Dalton to lead the offense. Dalton was knocked silly on a cheap shot by Washington linebacker Jon Bostic two weeks ago (Bostic was rightfully ejected from the game) and might be able to return this week for a home date against Pittsburgh. Dallas has been decimated by injuries, especially on offense where they've lost both starting tackles and Prescott. On defense, Dallas is horrendous. I mean, when you give up 25 points to Washington you know you have issues.

Many are already calling for McCarthy to be one and done and for owner Jerry Jones to clean house. We shall see.

Things could get ugly at AT&T Stadium on Sunday when the Steelers, who look like the best team in the league at the moment, come calling with their high-powered offense and stifling defense.

In college action, all eyes will be on South Bend, IN on Saturday when No. 1-ranked Clemson visits No. 4-ranked Notre Dame. This will be both teams first real test as both have had a relatively easy go of it thus far in the 2020 season. Clemson QB Tyler Lawrence, a Heisman Trophy candidate, will face a ND defense that has allowed 9.8 points per game in its first five games. But that unit will get its first real test against Lawrence and his host of playmakers.

In Big 12 action, Oklahoma State travels to Manhattan to face Kansas State with first place in the league at stake. Both entered their games last week undefeated in the conference. OSU hosted Texas last week and KSU took on West Virginia.

In high school action, four of Aldine ISD's five varsity teams will have their bye weeks. The only District 14-6A game will feature Westfield visiting Nimitz in Thorne Stadium.

Before we check out this weekend's games, let's review last weeks record. A 6-4 week brought the season record to 47-27 (64%).

Now, onto this week's game.

NCAA

Houston at Cincinnati: Dale Holgerson's Cougars hit the road to take on a very good Cincinnati team in an important American Athletic game. Two weeks ago, the Coogs picked up a nice road win at Navy as quarterback Clayton Tune (319 yards, 2 TDs) led the way to a 37-21 victory. Tune has a talented receiver to throw to in Marquize Stevenson (5 receptions, 118 yards, 1 TD). Stevenson is also a dangerous return man. The Bearcats are a solid bunch on both sides of the ball. Cincinnati is led by quarterback Desmond Ridder (597 yards, 6 TDs) and running back Gerid Doaks (145 yards, 4 TDs). I think UH hangs around in this one, but look for the Cincinnati defense to be the difference maker in this one. My pick, Cincinnati 31, Houston 26

Clemson at Notre Dame: The Game of the Week in college football pits Lawrence's (848 yards, 7 TDs) Tigers against Ian Book's (719 yards, 4 TDs) Fighting Irish in a nationally televised game on NBC. Lawrence is not a one-man team. He has plenty of talent around him like running back Travis Etienne (243 yards, 2 TDs) and wide receiver Amari Rodgers (12 receptions, 206 yards, 3 TDs). ND has been winning with a strong ground game and a stifling defense, as evidenced by the 9.8 points per game they've allowed in their first five games. The ND defense will get its first real test of the season. I think Lawrence and Co. will be too much for ND on Saturday, but I expect these two will meet in the ACC title game in December. My pick, Clemson 26, Notre Dame 24

Texas A&M at South Carolina: Jimbo Fisher's Aggies can't afford to look past the Gamecocks when they hit the road on Saturday. Sure, SC lost three of its first five games, but they did defeat Auburn at home three weeks ago and quarterback Collin Hill (502 yards, 3 TDs) is a playmaker. Aggie QB Kellen Mond (507 yards, 4 TDs) must protect the football and make plays with his arm and legs. He can count on running back Isaiah Spiller (142 yards) to lead the way on the ground. Look for the A&M defense to put heat on Hill and force a key turnover or two. This appears to be Fisher's best team in his first three years in College Station and another road win appears to be in the offing. My pick, Texas A&M 27, South Carolina 17

NFL

Green Bay at San Francisco: A good one for Thursday Night Football pits Aaron Rodgers and the explosive Green Bay offense against a San Francisco team that is beginning to play well on defense and doing just enough on offense to get back in the NFC West race and playoff hunt. Two weeks ago, Rodgers ( ) 1,497 yard, 17 TDs) threw four touchdown passes to lead the Packers to a 35-20 win over the Texans. The 49ers also cruised to a win at New England as quarterback Jimmy Garoppolo and the defense routed New England, 33-6. GB wide receiver Davante Adams (30 receptions, 388 yards, 5 TDs) had a big day with 13 catches for 196 yards. Rodgers should have his No. 1 running back return for this one as Aaron Jones (374 yards, 4 TDs) after missing the Houston game with a mild calf strain. Rodgers will need him as he takes on a 49ers defense that has been hit hard by injuries, but thanks to a wealth of depth, the defense has barely missed a beat. The Packers aren't a great defensive team, but they should make some plays against Garoppolo. My pick, Green Bay 26,

San Francisco 20

Houston at Jacksonville: The Texans return from their bye week with a trip to Jacksonville to face the only team they have beaten this season. Quarterback Deshaun Watson (1,401 yards, 8 TDs) should have a big day against the Jags. He threw for 300 yards or more in three straight games heading into the bye and appears to be getting more comfortable with wide receivers Brandin Cooks, Will Fuller and Randall Cobb. The Jags have also struggled this year, but did put up 29 points two weeks ago in a loss at Los Angeles. Look for Watson to have a big day against a suspect Jacksonville secondary as the Texans pick up win No. 2 on the season. My pick, Houston 33, Jacksonville 26

Baltimore at Indianapolis: Lamar Jackson (769 passing yards, 7 TDs/ 235 rushing yards, 1 TD) visit the Colts on Sunday in what should be an interesting game. The Colts have been doing just enough to remain in the AFC South race as quarterback Phillip Rivers (984 yards, 4 TDs) and rookie running back Jonathan Taylor (250 yards, 2 TDs) are leading the way on offense. Both of them will need to step things up on Sunday when they face the ball hawking Ravens defense. The Baltimore defense is adept at forcing turnovers and Rivers has had trouble in that department thus far this season. Look for the Ravens defense to force a turnover or three to lead Baltimore to a solid road win. My pick, Baltimore 26, Indianapolis 23

Pittsburgh at Dallas: This one cold get ugly early. Dallas is struggling on both sides of the ball and who knows if Dalton will be cleared from concussion protocol for this game. He probably hopes he doesn't have to face the blitz-happy Steelers who have one of the top defenses in the league. The Dallas offensive line is struggling, especially at tackle, so look for T.J. Watt and his mates to have a huge day and should come up with a handful, if not more, sacks. Offensively, look for Ben Rothlisberger (1,446 yards, 13 TDs) to be the next QB to carve up the porous Dallas defense. If Dallas suffers another humiliating defeat, I wonder if owner Jerry Jones would pull the plug on Mike McCarthy. My pick, Pittsburgh 36, Dallas 20

New Orleans at Tampa Bay: A good one for Sunday Night Football pits Drew Brees (1,618 yards, 11 TDs) against Tom Brady (1,910 yards, 18 TDs). Brees and running back Alvin Kamara (364 rushing yards, 4 TDs/ 46 receptions, 460 yards, 3 TDs) will face a very good TB defense that has greatly improved since the first time these two teams met in Week 1 (a 34-23 Saints win). Sine that game, the Tampa Bay defense has been a wrecking crew and on offense tight end Rob Gronkowski (22 receptions, 280 yards, 2 TDs) and Brady are connecting in the passing game just as they did when they were teammates in New England for so many seasons. As if the Bucs didn't have enough weapons with Gronk, running back Ronald Jones (506 yards, 4 TDs), wide receivers Chris Goodwin and Mike Evans, they went out and added former Steeler wide out Antonio Brown to the offense. Look for Brady and his teammates to extract revenge for that opening season loss at the Bucs continue their roll. My pick, Tampa Bay 33, New Orleans 24

ASK THE EXPERT

ASK DIAMOND JIM

Diamond Jim: “What are the birthstones for November?”

Those with November birthdays have two beautiful birthstones to choose from: topaz and citrine. Topaz comes in a rainbow of colors; citrine is prized for its charming yellow and orange hues. Both November birthstones are known to have calming energies while bringing fortune and warmth to the wearer. Most topaz and citrine birthstones are affordably priced, as good-quality gems are not as rare as for many of their counterparts. This means that those born in November have many options to choose from. Your challenge will be deciding which one to pick.

Topaz

The variety of topaz hues includes colorless, light blue, yellow, orange, pink, violet, brown and, very rarely, red. The vast majority of blue topaz seen today is the permanent result of treating colorless topaz with irradiation and heating. The rainbow effect seen in “Mystic Topaz” is created by coating colorless topaz with a thin artificial film.

Some believe the word “topaz” comes from the Sanskrit word tapas, which means “fire.” Others trace it back to the Greek topazos. This November birthstone was long thought to have many benefits. The ancient Greeks believed that topaz gave them strength. From the 1300s to the 1600s, Europeans thought it could thwart magic spells and dispel anger. The distinctly pinkish orange Imperial topaz has aristocratic cachet. It is commonly believed that the name originated with the Russian royal family’s insistence on keeping the finest colors of this gem, which was mined in Russia’s Ural Mountains, exclusively for their use.

Citrine

This November birthstone is the transparent yellow to brownish orange variety of quartz, which has been used in jewelry for thousands of years. Citrine has been a popular gemstone since ancient times and has shared a history of mistaken identities with the other November birthstone, topaz. As a result, people thought citrine had the same powers as topaz. They believed the citrine birthstone could soothe tempers and calm the wearer.

The ancient Greeks carved rock crystal ornaments that glistened like permafrost. Roman pontiffs wore rings set with massive purple amethysts, and citrine has been reported in Roman jewelry. It was particularly popular in colorful Scottish jewelry from the Victorian era. Citrine, believed to derive from the French word for “lemon” (citron), is given for the thirteenth wedding anniversary.

Today, most of the citrine in the marketplace results from the heat treatment of amethyst. With its ready availability in a broad range of sizes, citrine birthstone is one of the most affordable and desired yellow gemstones. The top sources for this November birthstone are Bolivia, Spain, Madagascar, Mexico and Uruguay. Amethyst that’s typically heat treated to a citrine color is mined mostly in Brazil.

Count Your Blessings

When you woke up on Wednesday, maybe not all the candidates that you supported in the election won their race. Chances are good that you still have a roof over your head as well as food in the kitchen. With the outcome of each race, there will be changes. Some of the employees who were comfortable with their positions, may lose their job if they supported another candidate. Or perhaps they are losing their job as they were too comfortable. Each day, we have opportunities to do a little more, have a better attitude and to make a difference.

Some elected leaders had become comfortable and perhaps even complacent. The demographics in the community have changed. If our elected leaders do not keep in contact with the community, they will often lose focus. I talked to someone on the other side of town who was so out of touch that when their school district was looking to purchase laptop computers and Wi-Fi hotspots for students in need, this person voted against it. His reasoning was that in his family, each of his three children had smart phones, laptops, and tablets. Apparently, each of his five grandchildren had most of the same electronics. In his mind, every family had the same items. Yet in the district he served, a large number of families did not even have electricity or adequate sleeping arrangements.

Another elected leader recalled growing up in project apartments and having to sleep with six children in one room and using the stove as a heater in the winters. She saw her mother killed by a man she once dated. She and her siblings had the privilege to move in with family members after their mother's death. Those memories from her childhood pushed her to incorporate domestic violence awareness programs into the schools. She also was determined to work with community groups to help raise funds for back to school supplies, uniforms and for holiday gifts. She frequently shared her story with students as a way to encourage them to apply for college admission as well as scholarships.

Perhaps those who were not successful in winning their elections can use their testimony to touch lives and make a difference. While it hurts our pride and wounds our ego to spend time and money for an unsuccessful campaign, we can still count our blessings. The candidates had supporters, financial or volunteers and should count their blessings. They gained community exposure and the experience of being a candidate. If they choose to run in another election, they have an advantage over a newcomer.

For those who ran an unsuccessful race, breathe and take a few days to rest and then get up and get busy. The community has much to learn from your experience as well as from the winner's experience. Do not “fall off the face of the Earth” but instead look at how you can give back to the community in other ways. And count your blessings.
