Jacinto City, TX. October 4, 2022 the City of Jacinto City joined in the nations National Night Out (NNO) to help fight to lower crime.

Jacinto City's Mayor Ana Diaz said, “because of the COVID-19 pandemic we had to cutback the past two years on having very many neighborhood locations.” Hopefully the city's police department will actively begin recruiting the neighborhood get-togethers all over the city for next year because that's the concept of the NNO event.

Located at the JC Police Department City Manager Lon Squyres said, “the city furnished hotdogs, cotton candy, snow cones, popcorn & cold drinks. Children enjoyed the inflated bounce house with a slide.” Police were present passing out crime prevention information and meeting and getting to know citizens.

National Night Out is a community-police awareness-raising event in the United States, held in Texas on the first Tuesday in October.

The event has been held annually since 1984, and is

Over 1200 guns turned in at second Buyback event

HOUSTON — Houston Mayor Sylvester Turner is calling Houston's second gun buyback event a huge success. In fact, he believes this was one of the largest, “if not the largest,” gun buyback events in U.S. history.

The drive-thru event was held in the Alief area at the Westchase Park & Ride METRO. It started at 8 a.m. and ended at about 2 p.m.

City officials said they collected more than 1,200 firearms. The breakdown includes:

Revolvers — 368
Semi-automatic handguns — 279
Shotguns — 243
Rifles — 227
Semi-automatic rifles — 91

Mayor Turner indicated that due to the success

Dr. Tory C. Hill Among Few Selected to Participate in Holdsworth Superintendent Leadership Program

Channelview, TX – The Holdsworth Superintendent Leadership Program, a prestigious professional-development program for Texas superintendents, announced its newest cohort of education leaders, among those selected is Channelview ISD Superintendent Dr. Tory C. Hill.

The leadership program identifies a limited number of superintendents from across Texas to participate in their 18-month program and guides superintendents to become better leaders and mentors. The program is offered to exceptional leaders who are new to a large school district or are in their first five years of being a superintendent.

“It’s an honor to be selected for this program. I am well aware of the exceptional opportunities Holdsworth provides for educational leaders and I am humbled to work alongside other superintendents who were selected,” said Superintendent Dr. Tory C. Hill. “Participating in this program will build my capacity as the chief executive of Channelview ISD, a district that I am fortunate to lead. At the end of the day, my leadership growth is for students and this academy will help us create optimal learning experiences for CISD students.”

Dr. Hill will have the opportunity to receive executive coaching from retired superintendents Dr. Thomas Randle and Dr. Art Cavazos, exemplary leaders in the field of education. He will also attend learning sessions in Austin where he will be able to discuss the challenges school superintendents have and how to overcome current obstacles in the education field.

“At Holdsworth, our vision is to impact, over time, the quality of public education provided to all Texas students. We believe that high-quality leadership is critical to achieving this vision and that the Superintendent’s leadership is especially critical as we face unprecedented challenges. Our aim through the Superintendent Leadership Program is to provide a collaborative community for early-career superintendents that supports their ability to lead school districts toward excellence and equity for all students,” said Program Director Rachel Gallardo.

sponsored by the National Association of Town Watch in the United States. National Night Out began simply with neighbors turning on their porch lights and sitting in front of their homes. The first National Night Out involved 2.5 million residents across 400 communities in 23 states; National Night Out 2016 involved 38 million residents in 16,000 communities across the United States.

The event is meant to increase awareness about police programs in neighborhoods and communities, such as drug prevention, town watch, neighborhood watch, and other anti-crime efforts.

The events are typically organized by block watches, nonprofit organizations, companies, and police departments. These events can be as simple as backyard cookouts or as complex as full-blown festivals.

Precinct 2 Constable Jerry Garcia and his deputies visited all of the designated NNO events in his jurisdiction. They greeted citizens and passed out crime prevention literature as most all law enforcement agencies do.

Garcia and his deputies distributed crime prevention items such as, children’s coloring books, lanyards, tote bags, key chains, coffee mugs, pop sockets, mouse pads with his office’s contact numbers (713-477-2766) so citizens could communicate with him. Or if immediate help is needed to report a crime in progress contact his dispatch office (713-477-4070). In an emergency call, 911.

Insecurities

In an average week if you encounter at least a handful of people, you will no doubt run into at least one person who is dealing with some type of insecurity. Some of these insecurities show up as jealousy or envy. Some of them will show in up the workplace and others show up in personal relationships. It takes some self-investigation to learn what has caused them as well as how to overcome them.

I have mentioned before that often children who were raised in a single parent home, have many obstacles to overcome and amongst these obstacles, is the issue of insecurities. There are also individuals who have spent time around adults with addiction issues who sometimes lack self-confidence. Someone who is a first generation American has faced some barriers. Certainly, those who have been in domestic violence situations are too familiar with insecurities.

Counseling as well as reading materials on how to develop your confidence will help. Also joining a support group can be beneficial to many. If you are a parent of a young person and notice they sometimes shy away from being around others, you could help find a mentor for them. There are several great non-profits in the area who work with students to develop skills that will help them overcome some of the obstacles. Even adults need the assistance of life-long learning programs. In many professions, the employer will offer professional development programs. The amazing thing that I found was that in participating in these professional development programs, they all contained information which has proven to be valuable in my personal life as well as in the volunteer projects in which I am involved.

We have all known of a person in leadership who may have passed a test or qualified because of years of service, yet they did not possess leadership skills. When you encounter someone like this, life can be extremely challenging. If the organization values the employee, they will suggest a leadership track to help the employee gain skills to perform to the best of their ability. For organizations that do not offer training, they are not only hurting this employee but those who report to them as well.

Even if the employer does not provide the training, it is wise to enroll for leadership training on your own. The monetary investment will more than pay off. There are numerous online classes, books and opportunities available. One of the most valuable training programs I have been involved with is the John Maxwell Leadership Program. Each year, there is a broadcast called Live2Lead that is offered in our area by Dr Cornelius A. Wilson and Associates that provides a foundation in a four-hour event that will open doors for you to obtain additional weekly training at a minimal fee. Mayor says Gun Buyback Program successful, Houston Mayor Sylvester Turner said the Gun Buyback Program was a huge success, and “In fact, this was one of the largest, “if not the largest,” gun buyback events in U.S. history.

Officers inspect, catalog and disable guns that have been turned in during the Buyback program.

moved faster than the first time in July, due to changes in the layout and buyback rules.

The large turnout in July meant that some donors decided not to stay in line, and left without a gun donation. But Daniel Martinez and Giselle Shapiro persisted. They had gone to the city’s first event held in July.

“After waiting two hours in line in July, we moved four to 6 car lengths and I was just like it wasn’t worth it and went home,” said Martinez.

“It was too crowded, I couldn’t afford to wait as long as I expected once I saw the line,” said Shapiro.

Both showed up Saturday to give it another try. “I think this one is way more organized,” said Martinez.

Mayor Turner said the setup was one of the changes made after the initial overwhelming response

“We learned a lot from what happened at the first one,” he said.

This go around, the city did not accept privately manufactured weapons or ghost guns.

“We’re not trying to incentivize people to privately manufacture guns for the gun buyback,” Turner said before the event.

Harris County District Attorney Kim Ogg raised a red flag after the first gun buyback event, saying the “no questions asked” policy could affect criminal investigations if any of the guns turned in were involved in crimes.

Officials collected 845 guns during the first event and said they gave out nearly $100,000 in gift cards.

ASK DIAMOND JIM

Diamond Jim: “What is Queen Elizabeth’s Crown Worth?”

“What is Queen Elizabeth’s crown worth, what is it made of, and could I have one made?”

The crown has existed in various forms since the 15th century. The current version was made in 1937 and was worn by the monarch after a coronation (St Edward’s Crown having been used to crown the monarch) and used at the State Openings of Parliament.

The crown is made of gold, 2,868 diamonds, 17 sapphires, 11 emeralds, 269 pearls, and 4 rubies. And according to CBS news, the pearls belonged to Queen Elizabeth I, thus creating “an incredible link with history.” After an exhaustive investigation, after which they added up all the parts of the crown, from its velvet cap and ermine band, to the solid gold frame and precious stones, it was determined that Queen Elizabeth II’s crown costs exactly $4,519,709.

Diamond Jim’s Pineforest Jewelry will make you a replica with genuine stones for approximately $3.5M. Please give us at least 1 year lead time with + down. Thanks for the inquiry!

OPINION

By Harris County Sheriff
ED GONZALEZ

As delivered at the NNO Press conference at the East Aldine District on October 3, and reported exclusively by this newspaper.

Sheriff comments on National Night Out

I want to start by thanking the East Aldine Management District for hosting us today. They are a model for all community-based management districts that exist to meet the unique quality of life challenges that face every part of our county, and they do a phenomenal job.

Every year hundreds of residents from across our county come together to spend an evening with their neighbors in honor of National Night Out.

They host block parties, festivals, and other fun activities to build bonds with each other and the police and deputies patrolling and protecting their community.

It's an evening the Sheriff's Office looks forward to every year because we get to meet our community.

We love serving and strengthening our relationships in the community through personal connections.

National Night Out is a time to celebrate our communities and what it means to be a good neighbor.

The Sheriff's Office is active in your neighborhoods, keeping your families, neighbors, and visitors safe. For us, every night is National Night Out.

We know that our communities are safest when they are patrolled by deputies people recognize and trust.

The Sheriff's Office has launched proactive enforcement efforts and measures aimed at the reduction of crime in our communities.

Each of our five patrol districts has its own Crime Reduction Unit, including Gang Unit investigators. The mission of the Crime Reduction Unit is to ensure the safety of residents through proactive operations and investigations that target high crime areas.

These deputies are actively present and visible in their neighborhoods, fostering personal connections with residents and identifying the type of criminal activity happening in that area through resident leads, crime reports and data, and patrol efforts.

Our Crime Reduction Units also participate in multi-agency initiatives to combat several public safety issues, such as street racing, street takeovers, and impaired driving.

HCSO also formed the Community Problem-Oriented Policing Unit, known as CPOP, to foster meaningful relationships with residents, gain insight into the unique needs of each community, and empower people with knowledge and resources through our partners.

Each patrol district has dedicated deputies who spend their time getting to know the businesses, schools, houses of worship, and neighborhoods in their area.

The goal is to get the community involved before a crime takes place and to create a bond before a crisis erupts.

We also have our Homeless Outreach Team (HOT). This unit is an example of community policing and what can be accomplished when law enforcement agencies and the community collaborate. We are proud to be part of the team effort setting a viable path forward for those experiencing homelessness.

Here in Aldine, I'm especially proud of the ShotSpotter initiative we launched with special funding from Commissioner Adrian Garcia and with support from the East Aldine Management District. Throughout this area, we have installed sensors that detect the sound of gunfire and alert deputies to respond in real time.

Since the ShotSpotter pilot program began here, there have been over 2,100 bullet casings located, 40 guns seized, and 42 arrests.

Public safety is a shared responsibility. You play a critical role in keeping your community safe, and we rely on you to be your neighborhood's extra eyes and ears.

Remember, your community will always be there to support you. We are here for you. Now more than ever, a strong support system is vital.

You and your neighbors are the backbone of a safer, more caring community.

Please join us tomorrow to get to know your neighbors, deputies, and officers patrolling your neighborhoods.

Thank you for being a good neighbor and carrying on the true meaning of National Night Out this year.

Let's remember the power of building a solid support system through community. We look forward to coming together tomorrow with our community.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Gary Borders

State of Texas Sends Resources to Florida

Texas has deployed state resources to Florida to assist in response and recovery efforts in the aftermath of the devastation caused last week by Hurricane Ian, one of the most powerful storms to hit the United States in the past decade.

"Texans understand the urgency of hurricane disaster response and recovery efforts, and our state is swiftly sending more support and resources to Florida as they continue responding to Hurricane Ian," Gov. Greg Abbott said.

The Texas Division of Emergency Personnel has sent more than 80 people to Florida, including nearly two dozen firefighters. In addition, more than 1,000 workers from Texas electricity providers were deployed to Florida to assist in restoring power.

COURT: PAXTON CAN'T PROSECUTE ELECTION CRIMES

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals stuck with an earlier ruling that Attorney General Ken Paxton does not have the power on his own to investigate and prosecute suspected election crimes. The Austin American-Statesman reported the court turned down Paxton's request to reverse a December ruling which struck down a 1985 law giving the attorney general that authority.

That ruling by the court, which consists of all Republicans, said the 1985 law violated the state's separation of powers doctrine, since it gave the attorney general's office, which is in the executive branch, prosecution authority reserved for members of the judicial branch — district and county attorneys.

Paxton sharply criticized the ruling, the Statesman reported.

"The CCA's shameful decision means local DAs with radical liberal views have the sole power to prosecute election fraud in TX — which they will never do. The timing is no accident — this is devastating for the integrity of our upcoming elections," Paxton said on Twitter.

WILDFIRES ONCE AGAIN ON THE RISE IN STATE

Dry weather and low humidity have once again increased the prevalence of wildfires in multiple areas of the state, after a rainy respite in mid-to-late August. However, the rain has largely left the state once again. Texas A&M Forest Service firefighters responded to nearly 80 wildfires in the past week, with two still active Sunday in Young and Angelina counties. Both were nearly completely contained.

"The 2022 fire season has been significant for the state of Texas, as state and local firefighters have responded to more than 9,800 wildfires," said Wes Moorehead, Texas A&M Forest Service Fire Chief. "The state received beneficial rainfall mid- to late August, which helped to significantly slow the operational tempo for wildland firefighters. However, the benefits of that moisture have started to wane, and we are, once again, observing dry conditions across the state that are resulting in increased wildfire activity."

Nine out of 10 wildfires in the state are caused by human activity. Residents are urged to wait on conducting any outdoor burning until conditions improve, even if your county is not under a burn ban. A total of 95 Texas counties are still under a burn ban.

NEW CABLE BARRIER SAVING LIVES

Motorists on Texas highways likely have noticed the addition of cable barriers along medians that prevent vehicles from veering into opposite lanes of traffic. Those barriers are saving lives, according to the Texas Department of Transportation.

A review of four TxDOT districts where 130 miles of new cable barriers were installed — in Lufkin, Pharr, Waco and Fort Worth — showed the barriers have been hit and repaired 242 times since 2019.

"I'm going to assume that each of those 242 strikes was a potential fatality had that cable barrier not been there," Commissioner Laura Ryan said.

The agency has completed 88 "Road to Safety" projects in the state, with 120 more now under construction. The efforts seem to have had a beneficial effect, with 84 fewer traffic fatalities reported in Texas from January to August. The state also saw a 9% drop in distracted driving deaths, and an 18% decrease in work zone fatalities.

PUC EXPANDS WEATHER PREP RULES

The Public Utility Commission has expanded weather preparation rules for electricity generators and transmission utilities in hopes of ensuring the reliability of the power grid during summer and winter severe weather events.

"Reliability drives every decision we make when it comes to grid operations," said Public Utility Commission Chairman Peter Lake. "The grid has to be ready for any weather condition, from extreme heat to extreme cold."

Under the new rules, the state is divided into 10 geographically distinct areas in which minimum and maximum temperatures are set under which power generators must prove their ability to continue operating.

The temperature standards go into effect next year.

COVID-19 CASES CONTINUE TO DROP

The number of new COVID-19 cases reported in Texas during the past week was again down slightly, with 22,006 new cases reported along with 123 deaths, according to the Coronavirus Resource Center at Johns Hopkins University. The Texas Department of State Health Services reported 1,654 lab-confirmed COVID-19 hospitalizations as of Sunday, down slightly from the previous week.

Since the pandemic began in early 2020, the state has reported nearly 8 million confirmed cases and 90,885 deaths. Just under 64% of the state's population is fully vaccinated.

Late Fall

My husband, Peter, and I are spending time "up north" with my parents at their cabin by the lake. Fall is late this year. I mentioned this to Peter on the drive north.

"Aren't the leaves supposed to change color at the same time every year?" I asked. "I thought they changed when the days were shorter."

Peter didn't know. We have a lot of conversations involving idle speculation. When we got to my parents' house, my mother confirmed it was a late fall this year. A meteorologist had announced this on public radio, so it must be true.

We took the pontoon boat out for the last time this season. The lake was still. The sky and the trees were mirrored on the surface. It was disorienting and beautiful.

"It's a perfect day!" I announced.

The next day was much colder. Everyone got up a little later than usual because the sun didn't break through our windows and remind us we were overdue for coffee.

"It's hard to get going on a day like this," my father commented over coffee.

I had a big conversation scheduled with someone who was interested in my book. The talk went better than I expected, and I was filled with crazy hope. I decided to burn off my nervousness by walking to the boat landing. But, when I got there, I saw I had company.

"Hello!" said one of the three men about my age, piling out of the truck they parked feet from the boat landing.

"It's your lucky day!" he announced. "We need someone to video us. Do you mind?"

This was such an odd request, I could hardly refuse.

"This is my brother," he continued, and one of the men nodded. "And this guy's family used to own a resort that was right here." He gestured to either side of us.

"We spent every summer here when we were kids. And this was our swimming hole," he pointed to the boat landing. "So every year we come back at least once to go swimming!"

"It's not real warm," I warned.

"I know! But it's the only day we could all make it here. We just got back from fishing in Canada!"

The other two men looked considerably less excited than their leader, and it was easy to imagine these three little boys, grown old, still following their high-spirited leader.

The man's brother was down on the dock, nervously looking over the edge.

"I'm not sure we can dive off this," he said. "It used to be deeper."

"You used to be shorter," I told him.

"That's true," he agreed.

"OK! Let's do this!" the leader said.

He handed me his camera, and the men took off their shoes and shirts. The water was in the low 60s and the air was 10 degrees cooler. The other two men looked as if this was a tradition they were willing to let go of. But there was no chance of that.

Moments later, all three were in the lake, hooting and hollering and very proud of themselves. I caught it all on video.

"You guys enjoy the rest of your autumn," I told them. They told me to do the same.

Fall is coming, but it's late.

I watched those slightly over middle-aged men—who were just about my age—and I understood their need to do everything they could in the autumn—even if the water was cold, even if the whole idea was a little crazy. We all understood the need to do it while there was time.

Till next time,
Carrie

Mustangs Survive Bulldogs' Attack;

North Shore 34 – Summer Creek 27

By Allan Jamail

Humble, TX. – October 7, 2022 the GPISD North Shore Mustangs survived the aerial show of Humble ISD's Summer Creek Bulldogs passing attack and held them off to capture a cliffhanger. Both teams undefeated in their 6A Region III District 21 conference and had the District's championship on the line.

The Eastside Boys under the direction of Mustangs Head Coach Jon Kay escaped with a win as the final seconds ticked off giving them a one touchdown (TD) victory margin. Kay must shore up his pass defense or it could prove fatal for another championship drive. They've won five state championships.

The Bulldogs scored first and early on their second play of the game when their junior running back Lloyd Avant caught the Mustangs defensive line asleep-at-the-wheel on a 45 yard (yd) up-the-middle burst into the end zone taking a 7 – 0 lead. They held the Mustangs off the board until late in the first quarter when NS David Amador on a QB keeper swept around the end and ran 45 yds for a TD, ending the quarter tied 7- 7.

The rest of the game North Shore's backup quarterback (QB) David Amador took charge. It was Amador to the right, Amador to the left, Amador up the middle and Amador completing passes. He broke loose up the middle for a 75 yd TD with teammate Rashaad Johnson running interference. He made three of the five NS TD's and was named Player of the game by Maxpreps, a national high school rating organization.

Mustangs total yds was 311, passing 34 & rushing 277. Bulldogs total yds 276, passing 201 & rushing 75.

North Shore's pass defense showed weaknesses on both short and long downfield passes. NS pass defenders mostly wouldn't go after the Jones passes and either fouled the receiver or let them make the catch. Bulldogs senior quarterback Jahrik Jones passed for 207 yds and three TD's.

Jaylon Joseph, Mustang's linebacker blitzed SC's Jones (QB) and tipped his pass into the air which teammate Jarvon Coles pulled in and ran 49 yds for a TD.

NS's Special Team player Evan Jackson gathered in a blocked punt and ran 85 yds. Mustangs Carlos Dominguez kicked the extra points and Jonathan Soto did the kickoffs.

FOOTBALL SEASON WEEK 7:

No. 1 Alabama faces another tough road test at No. 8 Tennessee: Cowboys, Eagles meet in key NFC East contest on Sunday Night TV

I can guarantee you Texans fans that your hometown team won't lose this week! That's because they have their bye week. Ok, enough of the snarky comments about the struggling Texans.

Houston can use a week off to figure out what's gone wrong thus far (and there's plenty of blame to go around) in the 2022 season.

Everyone associated with this franchise should be held accountable, from owner Cal McNair, to General Manager Nick Caserio, to head coach Lovie Smith and players on both sides of the football.

Assuming they lost at Jacksonville last Sunday, and there's a good probability they did, Houston will enter its bye week with a 0-4-1 record after its first five game. Ugh!

While the Texans look to turn things around in their next 12 games, there are plenty of good games on the schedule to look at this weekend.

In college No. 1-ranked Alabama visits No. 8-ranked Tennessee in a key SEC battle, while No. 10-ranked Penn State makes a trip to Ann Arbor to take on No. 4-ranked Michigan in an important Big 10 contest. In Big 12 play, No., 7-ranked Oklahoma State heads to Fort Worth to take on No. 17-ranked TCU and in the Pac 10, No. 6-ranked USC pays a visit to No. 11-ranked Utah.

Those are all important conference contests as league play begins to heat up across the country. The Big 12 looks like it could be a very interesting race as just about everybody but West Virginia is still alive in the hunt to play in the Big 12 title game in December in Arlington. Kansas has been one of the nation's surprise teams as Lance Leipold's team won its first five games heading into last week's game against TCU. The Horned Frogs, under the direction of first-year head coach Sonny Dykes, routed Oklahoma two weeks ago, 55-24 in Fort Worth and have a dynamic offense led by quarterback Max Duggan. OSU may have the most experienced team in the conference and are led by veteran QB Spencer Sanders. Kansas State, Baylor, Texas and possibly Texas Tech could also have a lot to say as to who appears in the league title game on the first Saturday in December. Oklahoma dropped its first two conference games and will probably play spoiler down the stretch.

In the NFL, there are two marquee games this weekend as the Buffalo Bills and Kansas City Chiefs meet for the first time since last January when they played perhaps one of the most exciting playoff games in NFL history. Patrick Mahomes and Co. pulled out a 42-36 win in overtime to advance to the AFC Championship game, where they ultimately lost at home to Cincinnati. Speaking of the Bengals, they head to New Orleans to take on a struggling Saints team. The Sunday Night Football crew has a good one as the Cowboys visit the Eagles in a key NFC East contest in prime time. Dallas entered last Sunday's game against the Rams riding a three-game winning streak thanks to a stifling defense and the steady play of backup QB Cooper Rush. Starter Dak Prescott could return for this game, but if he struggles, the Pokes can turn to Rush who has done a good job of making plays when they present themselves. He hasn't tried to play about his ability, which has been a key to Dallas' mini run.

Before we take a look at this weekend's schedule, let's review last week's record. Another 6-6 week brought the season record to a less than inspiring 33-27 overall record (55%).

It's time to get things going!

NCAA
Penn State at Michigan:
A big one in the Big 10 pits

the No., 10-ranked Nittany Lions against the No. 4-ranked Wolverines at the Big House in Ann Arbor. PSU has won its first five games of the season behind the play of QB Sean Clifford (1,030 yards, 9 TDs) and its two-headed running game featuring Nicholas Singletary (454 yards, 5 TDs) and Kaytron Allen (303 yards, 3 TDs). Penn State also has two capable receivers in wide-out Parker Washington (20 receptions, 285 yards) and tight end Brenton Strange (15 receptions, 231 yards, 4 TDs). The PSU offense will get a stern test from a quick and fast Michigan defense. Jim Harbaugh also has a pretty solid offense led by QB J.J. McCarthy (848 yards, 6 TDS) and running back Blake Corum (611 yards, 10 TDs). Look for the Michigan defense to slow down the Penn State offense as the Wolverines remain undefeated. My pick, Michigan 23, Penn State 13

Alabama at Tennessee: Nick Saban's No. 1-ranked Crimson Tide face a stern test at No. 8 Tennessee on Saturday afternoon. Volunteer head coach Josh Heupel has turned things around quickly in Knoxville as the Vols were 4-0 heading into last Saturday's game against LSU. Tennessee has an explosive offense led by QB Hendon Hooker (1,193 yards, 8 TDs), running back Jaylen Wright (256 yards, 4 TDs) and wide receiver Jalin Hyatt (23 receptions, 325 yards, 3 TDs). Alabama has a pretty fair offense as well, but might be without starting quarterback and reigning Heisman Trophy winner Bryce Young (1,202 yards, 14 TDs). Young suffered a shoulder injury two weeks ago in the Tides' 49-23 win at Arkansas, but the 'Bama offense did not miss a beat when backup QB Jalen Milroe replaced him. Milroe passed for one touchdown and rushed for 91 yards and another TD. He also got a lot of help from running back Jahmyr Gibbs (378 yards, 2 TDs), who rushed for 206 yards and two TDS in the win over the Razorbacks. If Young is out, look for Saban to give the Vols a steady does of his running game led by Milroe, Gibbs and Jase McClellan (256 yards, 3 TDs). If they are successful running the ball, that should open up the passing game for some down field strikes to wide receiver Traeshon Holden (17 receptions, 228 yards, 4 TDs). Look for the Alabama defense to be the difference maker in this one as edge rusher Will Anderson Jr., harasses Hooker all afternoon. My pick, Alabama 31, Tennessee 23

Oklahoma State at TCU: A big one in the Big 12. The winner of this one could be in the driver's seat to qualify for the league title game, while the loser will remain in the hunt. The No. 7-ranked Cowboys have perhaps the league's most experienced QB in Spencer Sanders (1,097 yards, 11 TDs). Mike Gundy's team also has a strong running back in Dominic Richardson (288 yards, 3 TDs) and a big-play wide receiver in Braydon Johnson (17 receptions, 360 yards, 3 TDs), while TCU has a pretty fair signal call as well in speedy Max Duggan (997 yards, 11 TDs). The Horned Frogs also have a strong running back in Kendee Miller (386 yards, 5 TDs) and two big-play wideouts in Taye Barber (11 receptions, 208 yards, 1 TDS) and Derius Davis (14 receptions, 158 yards, 2 TDs). TCU is tough to beat at home this year, which the Cowboys will discover come Saturday. My pick, TCU 36, Oklahoma State 33

NFL
Cincinnati at New Orleans: After losing their first two games of the season, the Bengals won two straight as

QB Joe Burrow (1,099 yards, 8 TDs) has started making plays downfield to WRs Tee Higgins (20 receptions, 315 yards, 2 TDs) and Ja'Marr Chase (25 receptions, 293 yards, 2 TDs). The Saints dropped three of their first four games as QB Jameis Winston (858 yards, 4 TDs/5 interceptions) has struggled to stay healthy. Look for the Bengals to win a tough road game as they begin to build momentum for the remainder of the season. My pick, Cincinnati 26, New Orleans 23

Buffalo at Kansas City: Sequels rarely live up to the hype (except Godfather II), but if this game is half as good as last year's AFC Division playoff game, then we should expect a real barnburner in KC on Sunday when the Bills visit the Chiefs. Both teams are loaded on offense and this game will feature two of the best young QBs in the NFL when Josh Allen (1,k227 passing yards, 10 TDs/183 rushing yards, 2 TDs) and Patrick Mahomes (1,106 yards, 11 TDs) meet once again in Arrowhead Stadium. Two weeks ago, the Bills overcame the rain and a 17-point deficit at Baltimore to rally to a 23-20 win behind Allen's arm and legs, while Mahomes led the Chiefs to a 41-31 win over Tom Brady and Tampa Bay in Tampa. KC controlled that game from start to finish and was up 21 points in the third quarter before Brady made the final score look close with a couple of TD passes late in the game. Allen will look to make plays with speedy wide-out Stefan Diggs (31 receptions, 406 yards, 4 TDs), while Mahomes will once again look for his main man, tight end Travis Kelce (26 receptions, 322 yards, 3 TDs), but head coach Andy Reid has surrounded Mahomes and Kelce with a host of talented receivers and running backs for Mahomes to spread the wealth to. Buffalo has the better defense, but don't forget what Mahomes did to a pretty good TB defense two weeks ago (249 yards, 3 TDs, 41 points). Look for Mahomes to make one more play than Allen will as the Chiefs look to let the rest of the AFC know that the road to the conference title still runs through KC. My pick, Kansas City 34, Buffalo 31

Dallas at Philadelphia: The Cowboys and Eagles meet on Sunday Night Football in the first of two meetings this season. The Eagles entered last week's game at Arizona as the league's only undefeated team. Dallas entered last Sunday's game against the Rams winners of three straight behind backup QB Cooper Rush (737 yards, 4 TDs) and a sack-happy defense (15 sacks in first four games). Philly has been getting it done behind dual threat QB Jalen Hurts (1,120 passing yards, 4 TDs/205 rushing yards, 4 TDs), running back Miles Sanders (356 yards, 3 TDs) and wideouts A.J. Brown (25 receptions, 404 yards, 1 TD) and DeVonta Smith (18 receptions, 266 yards, 1 TD). If Dak Prescott returns for this game, he may have to work through some rust, which could hamper the Dallas offense. If running back Ezekiel Elliott (227 yards, 1 TD) can get off to a good start running the football, then that should open up the passing game Prescott or Rush to makes plays downfield to CeeDee Lamb (23 receptions, 288 yards, 1TD) and Noah Brown (18 receptions, 274 yards, 1 TD). I think playing at home will be a huge advantage for the Eagles and the Cowboys will return the favor when these two meet again on Christmas Eve in Arlington. My pick, Philadelphia 24, Dallas 20

Greens Bayou Coalition holds another Great Regatta!

We had a perfect weather, a big fleet and a great send-off by Council Member Robert Gallegos! Katz Coffee got us hyped with great coffee. TEXSAR was in the water and on the banks to keep the fleet safe. The after-party rocked with music provided by Rico Torres of AR’s Entertainment and Bayou City Kayaks. Coca Cola SWB rehydrated us with fabulous beverages and Karbach provided beer. The Barry Ross family cooked up the best lunch EVER. (Barry’s company Ross Metal Works also created the Corporate Cup!) The young men from North Shore Anchor Club helped get boats out of the water and over to the side. HPD stood guard on the sidelines, and METRO was available to return us to the start as needed. Beth White from Houston Parks Board and Paul Young representing Council Member Ed Pollard inspired us to get out and enjoy Greens Bayou. We had some really FAST paddlers, some bayou cleaning paddlers, and some paddlers just out for fun. And we danced!
